INDIA MUST SETTLE HER OWN FATE

Out Of The Gloaming.

"The inauguration of the Congress Democratic parties in Maharashtra and Madras is a sky-sign of the march of events," writes the "Sind Gazette" in the epic style. Perhaps also a window sign, denoting that there is something "To Let."

* * * *

The U. S. Attorney General has given his opinion that the only way of avoiding the Sales Tax is to go to prison. In India you can't avoid it by either going to prison or even dying. Ordinances and bans follow you to the other world.

* * * *

That's why the I.C.S. is called the best and the cleverest Service in the world,—not only best in salaries, but best in ingenuity. And yet nobody thanks Britain for giving India preferential treatment and keeping the second best for Home consumption.

* * * *

The annual meeting of the Madras Discharged Prisoners' Aid Society was attended by the Law Member, Judges, the Inspector-General of Prisons and all other essential dignitaries—to survey their handiwork, we suppose.

* * * *

The report stated that the District Magistrates had been circularised to take interest in the Society's work. They were taking interest, also the Law Member and the Judges,—every one of whom had contributed his bit to work of the Society.

* * * *

If there were no prisoners, there would have been no need for the Society and no occasion to admire their handiwork. The Madras Law Member is a great believer in the purifying influence of Jails—more power to his elbow!

* * * *

The Inspector-General of Prisons said that "Crime was a form of behaviour and all behaviour had a cause." But Civil Disobedience prisoners have no cause, except to make the lives of the Police miserable.

* * * *

The Malta Governor says he was compelled to dismiss the Ministers, because they would not do what they were told. Our Indian Ministers are always obedient, so they are neither dismissed nor do they ever resign.

* * * *

There is such perfect teamwork between the Ministers and the Governors in India, that there is no room for petty quarrels and misunderstandings. Some Ministers even secure a permanent lease of the Treasury Benches, they are so helpful to Government.

* * * *

"Calcutta's Rapid Progress" says a headline. This has no reference to the measures taken by Sir John Anderson for the pacification not only of Calcutta, but the whole province, including Chittagong, by house-searches and additional Police.

* * *

Perhaps Calcutta now holds the world's record for house-searches, arrests and similar other things, all proving the intense desire of Sir John Anderson that the process of pacification should go on unimpeded, for ever and ever.

* * * *

Sir Frederick Sykes told the Patils, who are to play such an important part in the Village Uplift scheme, that Government had concluded that their remuneration was "not insufficient," seeing that they were "part-time" officials.

* * * *

These Village Patils are passing rich on Rs. 4 to 12 monthly. But the Governor wants all the money he can for his pet scheme, and naturally he pleaded "economic depression."

* * * *

The Patils are an ambitious lot too, for they want additional powers,—perhaps they want to safeguard their interests in the W. P. constitution. Everybody wants more powers and salaries, —except of course the people, who get all the taxes and Ordinances'

* * * *

Sir Frederick Sykes in opening the Sykes Law College said: "Many hard things are spoken of lawyers in general, but justice is a great asset of Society;" Ordinance justice is a greater asset of the administration.

* * * *

It is good to see His Excellency possess such a soft corner in his heart for the lawyers whose object, he said, should always be to simplify and not to obscure. That might be their object, it is not their profession, and they have to live like most of us.

* * * *

The train was about to leave the station when a smart young fellow thought he would air his sense of humour.

He walked up to a carriage and said: "Is this Noah's Ark full up?"

"All but the ass," was the reply. "Come right in."

No Work For Few Odd Individuals

Jawaharlal Replies To Hales's Letter

No Insecurity For Country After Separation From Britain, He Says

ALLAHABAD, Nov. 3.

In reply to a letter from Mr. H. K. Hales, M.P., published in some papers, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru says: "I am afraid there is vital difference in our viewpoints, and there is not much of a meeting ground. You are perfectly right in saying that the White Paper is unwelcome to every community in India. So far as the Congress is concerned it is totally indifferent to the fate of the White Paper, because in its opinion the White Paper is totally misconceived and incapable of improvement."

"THE RIGHT WAY."

"The fate of India," the Pandit says, "must be settled by Indians themselves and this cannot be done by a few odd individuals. The right way to proceed is for a constituent assembly elected by the people as a whole, on broadest franchise, to be held in India."

Referring to co-operation, the Pandit does not think that India will be placed in a position of insecurity after separation from Great Britain.

READY TO DISCUSS.

In conclusion, the Pandit says that he is perfectly willing to meet any individual or group, subject to his engagements, to discuss the present and future of India, but personally he does not think that a meeting of a small group suggested by Mr. Hales would serve any useful purpose.—A.P.

BENGAL MINISTERS IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Car Runs Down "Khud" Near Darjeeling

DARJEELING, Nov. 3.

Two ministers of the Government of Bengal, Sir Bijoy Prosad Singh Roy and Nawab K. G. M. Faroqui were involved in a motor accident to-day while they were on a joy-ride with Mr. T. P. Banerjee, a tea estate proprietor.

The car was driven by Mr. Banerjee and while it was turning a corner it went down a "khud" seven miles from Darjeeling.

All the occupants received slight injuries and they were sent to hospital. Sir B. P. Singh Roy was discharged after his injuries were attended to while the other two are being detained. Their condition is believed to satisfactory.—A.P.

RESTRAINT ORDER ON JAIRAMDAS

Removed While He Has Yet To Remain In Jail For More Than 9 Months

(From A Correspondent)

HYDERABAD (Sind), Oct. 31.

The recent removal of restraint order on Syt. Jairamdas Doulatram, the General Secretary of the Indian National Congress who is now undergoing a sentence of 12 months for breach of the notice which inter alia restricted him to the limits of Hyderabad Sind, had created considerable speculation with regard to the purpose of the government under lying the removal of the restraint when Syt. Jairamdas has yet to remain in Jail for more than 9 months.

It is now reliably learnt that as the restraint notices not specifying any period even exist after the period of sentence, consequential on the breach of the notice, expires, the government of Bombay have removed the restraint on Syt. Jairamdas so that the previous order may not be applicable to him after he completes his present sentence.

"PUNISHED" ONCE MORE

Dimitroff Excluded From Proceedings Until Tuesday

"HE HAS LOT TO LEARN"

Public Prosecutor Infuriated by Irritating Comments Who Complains to President.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.

The President of the Reichstag trial court again "punished" the accused Dimitroff, by excluding him from the proceedings until Tuesday. His offence this occasion has been of infuriating the Public Prosecutor by irritating and embarrassing comments.

A woman witness had given evidence that accused Popoff was in Russia at the time of the fire. The Prosecutor endeavoured to show she was guilty of prejury on an important point.

Dimitroff showed this was not the case, and told the Prosecutor he had a lot to learn. The Prosecutor thereupon angrily complained to the President.—Reuter. Special.

Anglo-French Entente

Stress Laid On Strengthening It First And Foremost

New French Ministry Proposes Immediate And Substantial Economies Through Administrative Reform

LONDON, Nov. 3.

The strengthening of the Anglo-French Entente as the cardinal article of foreign policy was emphasised in the Ministerial declaration, read before Parliament this afternoon

It alludes to the fact that "Britain after nobly sharing our trials recently explicitly upheld the reality and vigour of the Locarno agreement".

No noteworthy change was promised in the foreign sphere, but regarding the burning question of finance, Government proposes immediate and substantial economies, through administrative reform, war on tax-dodgers, alleviation of excessive taxation to stimulate economic activity, big scheme of public works, protection of industry, no preferential treatment except for "quid pro quo," and the development of colonial markets.—Reuter's Special.

Issue Requires To Be Cleared Up

Information hitherto garnered in Whitehall regarding Mr. Panter's treatment needs to be completed.

For instance, an official German explanation is desired why Mr. Panter was required to leave when there were found, after a weeks' detention, no grounds for a formal charge.

The important question arises regarding the position of British journalists who write impartially even when their doing so may clash with instructions issued to the German Press.

RESERVE BANK PROPOSALS

Imperial Bank Undertakes Not To Reduce Number Of Branches

Rs. 900,000 IN RETURN

Period Of Future Agreement Fixed at 10 Years With Five Years More To Give Notice

NEW DELHI, Nov. 3.

The Reserve Bank Committee held a prolonged sitting to-day. The examination of the representatives of the Imperial Bank was concluded and that of other banking institutions commenced at a late hour.

The former group was critically examined by the Committee on many points, including the loss on unremunerative branches, the period of future agreement and the management of the bank in relation to the question of Indianisation. It was stated that while at preesent the bank was gaining over Government transactions Rs. 280,000 there would be neither loss nor gain after the Reserve Bank was established, and a good portion of the work was taken away in principal centres, like Bombay, Calcutta, Madrs, Delhi and Rangoon.

FUTURE AGREEMENT.

The period of future agreement has been fixed at 10 in the first instance, but after that period the agreement is not terminable unless five years notice is given [illegible] side.

It is understood further that the representatives of the bank also expressed agreement with the proposed provision that when in the Government's opinion the Imperial Bank fails to comply with the instructions given in matters affecting the safety of the Government balances, or safety of currency chest balances in the custody of the bank, then the agreement is terminable.

The Imperial Bank is prepared to undertake not to reduce the number of existing branches during the currency of its agreement, with the Reserve Bank and in return, it is stated, the Government would make to the Imperial Bank a fixed payment of nine lakhs a year, this subsidy slowly disappearing at the end of 15 years.

INDIANIZATION.

As for Indianisation Sir Osborne Smith explained that since 1929 68 Europeans have either retired or resigned, one had been replaced by an Indian officer and now new recruitment of Europeans had been stopped.

After the Imperial Bank representatives withdrew, representatives of other banking interests including Mr. Ramdas Pantulu (Madras), Mr. C. B. Mehta and Dr. Maharaj Kishan commenced giving their evidence in regard to effects on their business by the establishment of the Reserve Bank and proposed an agreement with the Imperial Bank.—A.P.

King's Appeal To Observe Two Minutes' Silence On Nov. 11

The following communique has been issued:—

His Imperial Majesty The King Emperor has this year again expressed a wish that throughout the empire the 15th anniversary of the armistice should be marked by a momentary pause for reverent remembrance of the glorious dead, to take place at 11 A.M., Railway Time, on the 11th November. His Majesty also desires that all christian churches should hold their services at such hours as will enable two minutes' silence to take place during service at 11 A. M.

In order that all should be enabled to observe simultaneously this moment of solemn silence, the following arrangements have been made in Bombay City.

At 11 A. M., railway time, guns will be fired from the South end of the Oval near the Cooperage and near the Grant Road Station. BAIL UNDER CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT ACT

Offences Are Unbailable, Says Magistrate To Kamaladevi

The Gudivada correspondent of "The Hindu" writing on October 30, says:—

The two applications for bail, filed before the Stationary Sub-Magistrate, Gudivada, on the morning of the 28th Oct. by Mrs. Kamaladevi Chattopadhyaya, Mr. K. L. Narasimharao, B.A., and Mr. Cherukuvada Venkata Narasimham and later by Mr. P. Venkatrao Pantulu, B.A., B.L., on behalf of the three accused, came up for hearing to-day before the Magistrate.

Mr. Venkatarao, pleading on behalf of the accused, submitted to the court that the accused were uptonow not in a position to know for what offence they were arrested, that Section 497 of the Criminal Procedure Code laid down in clear terms that bail must, as a rule, be granted in all cases excepting where the offences called for transportation for life or death punishment, the accused were persons of status and education and that the Magistrate might, in view of the offence being not serious exercise his discretion and let them on bail.

Mr. D. Mahadevarao Pantulu, B.A., Prosecuting Inspector, Kistna, who appeared for the Crown, opposed the applications on the ground that the accused were arrested under sub-clause (1) of Section 17 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act and that the offences that came under the above section, were made non-bailable and cognisable by an amendment that came into force from December, 1932. He further stated that the case was still in the stage of investigation and that it would be highly objectionable to enlarge the accused on bail, especially in view of their past antecedents and that their future activities might prove a menace to public peace.

The Magistrate after hearing the arguments adduced on both the sides, passed orders dismissing the applications. The Magistrate in the course of his order stated that Section 17 (1) of the Criminal Law Amendment Act as amended in 1932 was non-bailable and that the case was still in the process of investigation.

BAIL ALLOWED.

A message from Gudivada, dated Nov. 1, says, however that Mrs. Chattopadhyaya has been released bail.

WHY DR. PATTABHI BROKE LAW

He Wanted To Show Ordinance Rule Cannot Demoralise People

Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya, the well-known Congress leader of Andhra and ex-member of the Congress Working Committee made the following statement before the Sub-Divisional Officer, Masulipatam, before being sentenced to six months' imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 500 for picketing a cloth shop in the town:—

"After the sentence of two years' rigorous imprisonment, with Rs. 1,100 fine, imposed on me on January 7, 1932 and being released on September 15, I found the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932 virtually validated the Ordinance rule by legislation for three years and thus penalised picketing which was always allowed in common law and further secured by the Gandhi-Irwin Pact, no self-respecting Congressmen can view with complacency such a direct breach of the Pact and the Poona decisions have accordingly enjoined on all congressmen to follow individual Civil Disobedience.

As a humble follower of the Indian National Congress, which is the accredited mouthpiece of the nation and also its acknowledged representative, I have deemed it my duty to disobey the law and picketed accordingly and I gladly bear the punishment the Court may be pleased to award to me, with the hope that the Congressmen would realise that Government cannot demoralise people either by sentences or by lathi charges or by heavy fines."

Simla Parleys Through Japanese Eyes

Will Viceroy Be True To His Professions Of Sole Regard For Indian Interests, Asks "Asahi"

The "Asahi," one of the leading newspapers of Japan wrote as follows in mail week with reference to the Indo-Jap parleys at Simla:—

At the plenary session of the Simla Conference held at the end of last month, the Japanese delegates are understood to have suggested the desirability of reducing the present Indian tariff from 75 to 50 per cent and of limiting the maximum annual export of Japan's cotton tissues to India to the figure registered during the latest one year.

This Japanese proposal is not likely to meet with the unconditional approval of the Indian authorities, and the prospects of the Conference are anything but reassuring. For all that, there is every reason for us to hope for the successful conclusion of the parley.

Our interest in the Simla Conference, however, cannot be confined to its economic aspect alone. A phase of the parley which imparts, in a sense, great importance to the Conference, is the question of Indian autonomy. This is a problem not only for the Indian people themselves, but for all students of colonial administration.

PROMISE OF AUTONOMY.

It will be remembered with no small interest that the Indian Administration Law, legislated in 1919 and enforced in 1921, invested the Viceroy with a decidedly expanded range of prerogatives.

The Indian National Assembly was so reorganized as to comprise 41 officially nominated members and 104 others elected by people, thereby establishing a representative government system. The Act of 1919, however, detracted much from the intrinsic value of that system, as the Viceroy was empowered not only to deny the bills passed by the Assembly, but to legalize any bills for enforcement which had been vetoed by the Assembly.

This somewhat despotic Viceroyal government in India elicited comment among the critics, when British authorities pleaded that the government system in question was justifiable since it was not for the sake of England, but solely in interests of the Indians. In other words, the British Viceroy in India was invested with a decidedly extensive range of prerogatives in the matter of his Indian administration for the sole purpose of ensuring the safety, peace, and welfare of British India or part thereof as explicitly stated in the Indian Administration Act of 1919.

Whether or not this British attitude is true the present Simla Conference offers the best chance of proving to the Indians and of the world.

There is no denying that the present Anglo-Indian authorities' policy on the pending Indo-Japanese commercial difficulty is designed for the protection of the Indian cotton industry against the advance of Japanese export which has been facilitated by the exchange slump and by unrivalled productive efficiency. The British authorities, however, are not forgetting to protect the interests of the Lancashire industrialists. Such protection indicates pressure on the Indian industry. This is evident from the 25 per cent duties already imposed on the British output.

Under such circumstances, it is certainly not unuatural that the Indian industrialists should grow apprehensive of Japan's advance. It is not duties imposed on Japanese products, but the discrimination made against her in such duties that Japan complains. The 75 per cent tariff on the Japanese output when only 25 per cent is imposed on the British goods must be regarded as highly discriminatory and must be attributed to the selfish British policy as mapped out at the Ottawa Conference last.

It is no use looking back upon the past. What is of real importance lies in the future. All will be right if the present Simla Conference can be brought to a successful conclusion. This is well within the realm of possibilities, if viewed from the Indians' standpoint.

VICEROYS ATTITUDE.

If the Indo Japanese relations are given due and fair considerations at the Simla parley, and especially if the fact is properly noted that during the past 28 years of the Indo Japanese commercial intercourse, India registered an excess of export over import to the aggregate amount of no less than 3,300,000,000 yen, there ought to be a great deal of inducement on part of the Indians towards a compromise to bring the present meet to a satisfactory conclusion.

It is plain that the question upon which all now depends is whether the British Viceroy will be true to his public profession and weigh the whole situation, not from the consideration of the British interests, but from the standpoint of the Indian people; and whether the British Government really means to undertake the Indian administration "in the interest of the Indian people." A most deunie answer to this question the future development of the Simla Parley is to offer, and upon it will be reflected the future development of the Indian autonomy question. That is why we attach particular importance to the result of the present Simla Conference not only from the economical, but from tre political points of view.

WHITEHOUSE EXTENDS FRIENDLY HAND TO SOVIET

Roosevelt Invites Russia's Representatives To Discuss Outstanding Questions

Following is the text of the letters exchanged recently between President Roosevelt of United States and M. Kalinin, President of Soviet Union, who has arranged with M. Litvinoff to proceed at once to Washington:

From the beginning of my Administration I have thought it necessary to make an attempt to end the present abnormal relations between the 125,000,000 people of the United States and 160,000,000 people of Russia. It is regrettable that these two great peoples, between whom friendship has existed for more than a century, should have no practical method of maintaining direct relations with each other. The difficulties which have created these abnormal situations are great, but in my opinion they are not insurmountable. But the difficulties can be overcome only by sincere and friendly discussion. If you are of the same opinion, I shall be glad to receive any representative indicated by you to discuss personally with me all questions dividing our two countries. Participation in such a discussion would not bind either side in regard to future action, but it would indicate the sincere wish to come to a settlement of the problems in question. I hope that such a discussion may have good results for the peoples of both countries.—Franklin Roosevelt.

KALININ'S REPLY.

Mr. Kalinin replied:—

"I have received your message of October 10, I have always considered it extremely abnormal and regrettable that for 16 years the two great Republics, the Soviet Union and the United States of America, should not have had the usual method of regulating relations, and the advantages which these relations could give. I am glad to learn that you have come to the same conclusion. There is no doubt that the difficulties between us two countries can be settled if there are direct relations between them. On the other hand there is no possibility of their being settled without such relations. I permit myself further to express the opinion that the abnormal conditions to which you justly refer in your message have an unfavourable effect not only on the relations of our two countries, but on the general international situation, increasing disquiet and anxiety for general peace and strengthening the views violating this peace. I accept with pleasure your proposal to send a representative to America to discus with you the questions interesting our countries. The representative of the Soviet Government will be M. Litvinoff, Commissar for Foreign Affairs, who will arrive in Washington as soon as a date can be arranged."

Grave Injustice To Indigenous Bankers

R. B. Bill Should Be Amended On Basis Of Recommendations Of Central Banking Committee, Urges Marwadi Chamber

The Marwadi Chamber of Commerce Bombay have sent the following wire to the Finance Member, Government of India, New Delhi Re: the Reserve Bank Bill:

The Board of the Marwadi Chamber of Commerce request the urgent attention of the Government of India and Select Committee to a very grave defect of the Reserve Bank Bill namely. Its failure to give a recognised place to indigenous bankers and to provide for them any banking facilities. This ommision is in complete disregard of the recommendations of the Central Banking Committee. As the number and volume of business of Indian Joint Stock Banks is comparatively small and shroffs still substantially meet the country's banking needs specially in internal trade the Board submit that without linking the indiginous banker with the credit machinery its control by the Reserve Bank is bound to be incomplete.

INCLUDE LIST OF SHROFFS.

It is therefore emphatically urged that the Reserve Bank Bill should be amended on the basis of the recommendations of the Central Banking Committee by including a list of shroffs conforming to the prescribed standard along with the Joint Stock Banks in the second schedule and according the same place to scheduled shroffs as has been done to scheduled banks in subsections Two and Three of Section Seventeen.

The Marwari Chamber trusts that Government and Members of the Select Committee will be pleased to remove the grave injustice sought to be perpetrated against indigenous bankers in this matter.

LIVING ON IMMORAL EARNINGS

Christian Styling Himself As Doctor Convicted

J. M. Coelho, (62) who styled himself doctor was sentenced to a day's simple imprisonment and to pay a fine of Rs. 200 in default to undergo three months imprisonment on a charge of living on the earnings of prostitution, by Mr. P. L. Thakker, Presidency Magistrate Mazagaon on Friday.

Sub-Inspector D'Costa and Rosy D'Souza gave evidence for the prosecution.

The Prosecution case was that the Vigilance Department of the Bombay Police received information, that the accused, who had a dispensary on the 13th Lane Kamatipura was actually using the place for supplying prostitutes and that the accused had not prescribed medicine for anybody during the current year..

In consequence of this information Sub-Inspector D'Costa sent two people to the Dispensary on October 27 to make enquiries. Being satisfied with the information received from these two people, a bogus customer with marked coins was sent to the Doctor on October 28. The Doctor accepted the money and supplied a girl called Rosy D'Souza. The bogus customer and the girl got into a room inside the dispensary and on a signal given by the customer, the police officer who was waiting a few yards away from the place raided the place and arrested the doctor.

The accused pleaded guilty and was sentenced as above.

LIVING ON EARNINGS OF PROSTITUTION

Hindu Sentenced To Six Months' R. I.

Bhima Navsha who was charged under section 5 of the Prostitution Act; was convicted and sentenced to six months rigorous imprisonment by Mr. J. N. Mehta, Presidency Magistrate, Girgaum Police Court, on Friday.

The case for the prosecution was that on receiving information Mr. P. G. Naik, worker of the Bombay Vigilance Association, made preliminary inquiries and also met the accused who took him to different parts of the City, showed him girls and promised to bring any of them to his room by previous appointment if Mr. Naik was prepared to give him sufficient money. The matter was then placed in the hands of the Police for taking necessary action.

On October 9th a bogus customer with marked money was sent to the place with Mr. Naik and Sub-Inspector Sawant of the Vigilance Branch followed him. One of the two girls kept ready by the accused in his room was introduced to the bogus customer and the money was taken by Bhima. The accused was then placed under arrest.

One of the girls rescued from the place told pathetic story as to how she was induced by the accused to leave her work and visit his place as she would get more money and was ultimately asked to accept customers.

The accused pleaded guilty to the charge.

STRIKE SITUATION IN BOMBAY

Need Of Leadership For Success Of Workers

Under the auspices of the Young Workers' League, a mass meeting was held at Lalbag maidan on Friday evening with Mr. Junnare in the chair. Messrs. D. V. Pradhan, S. V. Deshpande and B. L. Belose spoke. They said that the present strike in four mills was an indication of the militancy of the textile workers who were prepared to wage a bitter struggle against the millowners' campaign of wage cuts and rationalization.

They pointed out that the workers' struggle could be successful only under the leadership of strike committees and by developing the isolated strikes into a general strike. The speakers referred to the example of Soviet Russia where under the rule of the working class for the last years the condition of the masses was improving rapidly, inspite of the present world-wide capitalist crisis.

The meeting terminated after the singing of the 'International'.

TORQUATO M. X MONTEIRO.

FROM GOA TO ROME ON FOOT

Young Goan Starts On Holy Year Pilgrimage

A daring adventure has been undertaken by Mr. Torquato M. X. Monteiro a young man from Anjuna, Bardez, Goa, who set out on foot on the 24th October for Rome to be present for the Holy Year celebrations early in 1934. He had been cherishing this ambition for some time, but it was only recently, having put his private affairs in order, that he was enabled, with material help from fiends and some dignitaries of the Catholic Church in Goa, to leave on his arduous journey.

He proposes to cross the Indian frontier into Baluchistan and thence to proceed through Persia, Iraq and Turkey and across the Balkans to Northern Italy. It will take him six months of strenuous walking to be anywhere near his objective. Mr. Monteiro is prepared for hardships on the way, including bitter cold, hunger and hostile tribes, and hopes that the spirit which has emboldened him to start on this venture alone and unarmed, and depending on the hospitality of the people he is likely to meet, will see him through to the very end.

Mr. Monteiro is 33 years of age and speaks a number of Indian and African languages besides English and Portuguese. He was employed in Government service in East Africa for a number of years before he returned to his native village a short time ago. He has left with the good wishes of his mother, brothers and sisters and of friends in Tivim Goa, and was well-received by the Catholic community of Belgaum recently. He is at present not far from Poona, and after halting there, he will make direct for the North.

INDIAN MERCHANTS' CHAMBER'S LETTER

Mr. J. K. Mehta, Secretary, Indian Merchants' Chamber, has addressed the following to the Secretary to the Government of India, Finance Department New Delhi.

I am directed by the Committee of this Chamber to address the Government of India in regard to the question of ratio as under:—

My Committee are in agreement with the objects of the Currency League of India, viz. to oppose the continuation of the present 18d. sterling ratio, as is sought to be done through the Reserve Bank of India Bill and to bring about an immediate devaluation of the Rupee. This is a question on which there is much common ground between the Indian and the European commercial communities in the country.

My Committee are strongly of opinion that time has now arrived when Government, should review the whole position in regard to the ratio. They, therefore, beg to urge that immediate steps be taken in this direction so that the present inflated Rupee may be devalued and the ratio be fixed in the best interests of agriculture, trade, commerce and industry of the country.

"ILLUSTRIOUS YOUNG RULER"

Ex-Judge's Tribute To Maharaja Of Travancore

TRIVANDRUM, (By Mail).

"The Travancoreans are fortunate in having an illustrious ruler, young in years and well equipped for the beneficent reign of the land," said Mr. Changanacherry Parameswaran Pillai, an ex-Judge of the Travancore High Court, presiding over the special session of the Travancore Viswakarama Samaj held at Quilon.

He referred to the three announcements concerning the progress of the State made by His Highness on the occasion of his installation and said that the Legislative Reforms and the opening of a Land Mortgage Bank in Travancore had gone a great way towards the welfare of the country.

The move of His Highness' Government in connection with the Pallivasal Hydro-Electric schemes, the President said, was commendable and he hoped that it would bring about an industrial regeneration in the land.

A resolution was passed, all standing, praying for the long-life of His Highness the Maharaja of Travancore.—A.P.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS IN BENGAL

Government Record Gloomy Picture

CALCUTTA, (By Mail)

"Unfavourable conditions, political and financial, have again checked the progress and expansion of educational activities. Communal dissension, political agitation and economic depression have all had most unfortunate effects on the development of educational policy. The Civil Disobedience Movement and the terrorist campaign did much to undermine discipline and unsettle the youths of the province during the latter part of the period under review, and these troubles were intensified by the acute financial and economic depression which prevented the realisation of the many long-needed reforms and culminated in the appointment of another Retrenchment Committee at the end of the quinquennium"—thus begins the Government Resolution on the Eigth Quinquennial Review on the progress of education in Bengal for the years 1927-28 to 1931-32.—A.P.

Majority Does Not Want A. I. C. C. Meeting?

Replying To Govindanand, Jawaharlal Says, He Had Repeatedly Invited Requisition, But Without Effect

KARACHI (By Mail.)

Swami Govindanand has received a lengthy reply from Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru in the course of which the Pandit says that he is not aware of "deep resentment in the whole country against the effort to decide the fate of an old nation behind closed doors in Poona between the Pandit and Gandhiji" about which the Swami made pointed reference in his letter to the Pandit. The Pandit adds:

"Nor have I seen anywhere signs of any such resentment. I fail to see how my consultation with Gandhiji about various matters can cause resentment to any body or how it can be interpreted as decidig the fate of nations."

ONLY POLITICAL WORK.

Dealing with the Swami's protest against introduction of Harijan uplift question into Congress programme the Pandit says:—

I am not interesting myself in the Harijan movement as it is being carried on and, so far as I am concerned my energy will be utilised for political work alone." The Pandit however adds. Abolition of untouchability has been a fundamental part of the Congress programme for many years."

Referring to the convening of the All India Congress Committee meeting the Pandit writes:

I have repeatedly invited a requisition and have stated that immediately on receipt of it I shall convene the meeting. For the last five weeks I have been patiently waiting for such a requisition but none has come. It is rather strange that there should be this delay in a requisition coming if, as the Swami says, an overwhelming majority of members desire a meeting I want to put no obstacles whatever in the way of meeting. As, however, there appear to be two sets of opinions, one desiring a meeting and the other definitely not desiring it. I left it to those members who wanted the meeting to take the initiative. To remove technical difficulty standing in the way of members living in different places, I am perfectly prepared to accept as a requisition if the requisite number of members, that is 30, write to me even separately. If even this number do not wish to do so, and this number represents about 8 per cent of the total membership, then I can only conclude that the great majority of members do not desire a meeting at present."—A. DONATIONS FOR HARIJAN CAUSE

Gandhiji Assures They Will Be Used In Best Manner Possible

MADRAS, Nov. 3.

Writing on his forthcoming tour in to-day's issue of the Harijan, Mahatma Gandhi says.

"How would collections made during his forthcoming tour be distributed" is the question put by several workers. They will be handed over to the Central Board with instructions to use them as far as may be for a province or district or taluka or town in which they may be collected. Whilst this will be the general rule, I do contemplate receiving at some places single donations, which will be utilized for the Harijan cause wherever the need is greatest.

It must be obvious that any rigid rule restricting the use of collections of places where they are collected will defeat the very end for which collections are to be made. No doubt in every place workers will give me the benefit of their suggestions as to the use to be made of the collection. Let there be no hesitation on the part of workers or donors for fear of collections not being used in their districts or in the best manner possible. They should realise that the Central Board has an efficient system of account keeping, that accounts are audited and, I believe, published regularly.—A. P.

GREAT NEED OF TEAM-WORK

Rai Bahadur Buta Ram Discusses India's Chances In Test Matches

NOT A WALK-OVER

Indian Side Will Be Handicapped By Players Being Accustomed To Different Climates

LAHORE, Nov. 1.

Rai Bahadur Buta Ram, Member of the Executive Council, Patiala, in a statement to the press regarding the chances of Indian teams in the tests, says:

Comparison is always bad. The game of cricket is so uncertain that it is very difficult to forecast the results of the Test Matches to be played in India. I have been approached by many friends and supporters of cricket as to what I thought about the strength of the M. C. C. touring team. The M. C. C. touring team in my opinion is at least 50 per cent better than the team that came out to India last time under the leadership of Mr. Gilligan.

BACK-BONE OF TEAM

I can say from my experience as a keen watcher and student of this game, that out of the present M. C. C. touring team about 6 or 7 will form the strength and backbone of the English team against Australia next summer.

As regards the strength of Indian XI some people are forming an opinion about them which is more than their strength, without realising that while in England last time the Indian side was in regular training and combination, while here in India this advantage will be lacking. Climtic conditions n England during the Indian tour were more or less the same, and the team had got accustomed to it. Some people will be taking part in the India Test XI from Northern and Central India, Bombay, Bengal, Madras and Karachi.

INDIAN HANDICAPS.

All those places being quite different as regards climate, Indian players chosen for the Test will be handicapped in combination, while the M.C.C. touring side, by the time they enter the Test Arena, will have a better combination than the Indian side, and so I suggest that people in India should not be very anxious to say anything about the results till the Tests are over.—A.P.

HINT TO BIG THREE

No Use of His Presence When They Are Divided on Procedure To Confront Germany.

PARIS, Nov. 2.

During the two-hour conversation between M. Paul Boncour and Mr. Norman Davis, the latter pointed out quite clearly that he would not return to Europe until three great powers Britain, France, Italy had got together and drawn up a united plan with which to confront Germany. Until then he would play golf in America. He emphasised that it was useless for him to return while the three powers were engaged among themselves as to the procedure.

Mr. Norman Davis refused to make a statement in this connection.—Reuter.

No Chaupatty Honour For Patel

Government Ban Public Cremation On Sea Face

They Safeguard It From Being Turned Into Hindu Mausoleum!

The Government of Bombay have refused permission for the public cremation of the remains of the late Mr. Vithalbhai J. Patel on the Chaupatty foreshore.

The Director of Information has issued the following:—

The Municipal Commissioner for the City of Bombay having received an application for his permission under section 440 of the City of Bombay Municipal Act to cremate the remains of the late Mr. Vithalbhai J. Patel at Chowpatty has submitted the request for the orders of Government under sub-section (2) of section 440 of the Act. For the reasons stated below, the Government of Bombay have decided to refuse their sanction to the grant of permission.

The application is probably based on the precedent created by the cremation at Chowpatty of the remains of the late Mr. B. G. Tilak. On that occasion, permission was necessarily given at very short notice and without sufficient time for full consideration of the implications and consequences of granting the permission. The Government decision on the present occasion is based on experience gained subsequent to the cremation of Mr. Tilak's remains.

CAUSES FOR REFUSAL.

After the cremation of Mr. Tilak's body, complaints and rumours were current that the scene of the cremation had been desecrated. Whether true or false, the rumours indicated the unsuitability of an open public site for cremation purposes in a city like Bombay, especially in cases where the deceased had been prominent in public life.

When permission was given for the cremation of the body of Mr. Tilak it was granted on the understanding that no enclosure should be made or memorial erected. Later, it was found impracticable to maintain this condition. In May 1924, the Municipal Corporation of Bombay requested that the site of the cremation should be properly protected by means of an iron railing. In response to this request Government directed that the site of the cremation should be protected by an iron railing but the President of the Corporation was informed that this was done on the clear understanding that the case was not to be taken as a precedent and that it would not be possible for Government to consider favourably any further requests of a similar nature. In the following year, however, the Municipal Corporation again approached Government for permission that the site, site should be used for the erection of a memorial to Mr. Tilak. This permission was also granted. The Committee in charge of the arrangements thereupon made a further request for an additional area of roughly 100 square yards for the purpose of erecting a monument, and ultimately an additional area for this purpose was granted as well.

REQUESTS LIKELY TO FOLLOW.

It is evident, therefore, that, although the present application makes no request for a memorial on the site of the cremation nevertheless if permission were granted for the cremation of the remains of the late Mr. Vithalbhai J. Patel at Chowpatty requests are likely to follow that the site should be fenced off and that permission to erect a memorial on it should be given. It might be difficult not to grant these requests.

HINDU MAUSOLEUM.

With a second precedent for the cremation of a prominent Hindu political leader on Chowpatty sands and possibly the erection later on the site of a monument or memorial, similar requests would probably be made on similar occasions in the future and the tendency would be for their scope to be enlarged. It would be difficult also to refuse similar permission if asked for in the case of a Hindu prominent in spheres other than politics, for example philanthropy or industry. In any event, it would inevitably be a delicate matter in each case for Government to decide whether or not permission for cremation should be granted. There would also be a tendency in each case for the friends of the deceased to ask permission for the erection of a memorial on the site of the cremation. The place would, therefore, tend to become not only a Hindu burning ground but also a Hindu mausoleum.

UNDESIRABLE.

In the opinion of Government it is undesirable to encourage any tendency to convert the Chowpatty foreshore to these purposes. It has long been a popular resort of all classes and creeds in Bombay and its area is limited. The convenience and sentiments of the residents in the locality must also be taken into consideration. Finally, it is undesirable that questions connected with the disposal of the remains of prominent Hindus should, in any respect, become a subject of discussion to be decided by Government. If a second public cremation were now permitted at Chowpatty, questions of this kind are bound to recur. Government are satisfied that due respect to prominent members of the Hindu community can be adequately and suitably paid after death on all occasions without the special use of the foreshore at Chowpatty. In these circumstances they have decided not to grant permission for the public cremation of the remains of the late Mr. Vithalbhai J. Patel on the Chowpatty foreshore.

DOUBTS ABOUT ADMISSION OF BODY

It may be added that there are circumstances and conditions connected with the admission of a dead body into India and the opening of a coffin after arrival which might make it desirable or necessary to refuse permission for opening the coffin or cremating the remains in a public place. In view of the reasons given above, it has not been considered necessary to deal with this aspect of the present case in a press note.

There Is Irwin Touch In It

The Associated Press has received from Switzerland the copy of a letter from Lord Irwin to Mr. V. J. Patel, and copy of the reply written by Subhas C. Bose.

Letter from Lord Irwin:—

88, Eaton Square,
S.W.1.
10th October, 1933.

Dear Mr. Patel,

I had seen some time ago that you were ill, and have now just received a letter from Miss Harrison giving me an account of your health that impels me to send you this line.

Much has happened since we had occasion to see a good deal of one another in India, and in public affairs I am afraid that we must be very far apart.

But this does not prevent my sending you a message of very true sympathy from Lady Irwin and myself in your illness, and saying how warmly I wish that the doctors may be able to restore your health. You have had, I know, a bad time, and I fear have been suffering much pain.

I have often thought of you.

Yours sincerely,
(Sd.) IRWIN.

LETTER FROM SUBHAS

La Liguiere, Gland,
Switzerland.
20th October 1933.

Dear Lord Irwin,

Mr. V. J. Patel desires me to convey his sincere thanks to Lady Irwin and yourself for the exceedingly kind message you have sent. It is so good of Lady Irwin and yourself to think kindly of him when he is passing through unspeakable agony. He is only sorry that he is not in a position to write himself but he desires to assure you that he will take the earliest opportunity of doing so as soon as he feels a little better. Your message has afforded him great satisfaction.

As regards his condition, I am sorry to say that it is steadily deteriorating and the prognosis does not seem to be at all favourable.

Yours truly,
(Sd.) SUBHAS C. BOSE.

Chief Of Cat Burglars Caught

POLICE LAY CLEVER TRAP AND SUCCEED IN ROUNDING UP WHOLE GANG RESPONSIBLE FOR THEFTS IN FORT

The arrest of an alleged cat burglar by a cleverly laid trap more than a month ago has led to the recovery of nearly half the property involved in a series of burglaries of which the European residents in the Fort were mainly the victims.

As a result of careful investigations extending over a month made by the Palton Road police a gang of seven men has been arrested and property valued at Rs. 1,500 has been recovered.

The bulk of the property seized by the police has been identified as belonging to about 25 well-known businessmen of Bombay, the majority of whom are Europeans. The list includes:

Major A. J. Ransford, Mint Master of Bombay.

Mr. A. L. Hudson of the Bombay Company.

Mr. F. W. Jackson of Whiteaway Laidlaw and Co.

Mr. Broad Brent of Fleming Shaw and Co.

Mr. Albert Dias, Assistant Superintendent, Foreign Posts.

Mr. Charlesworth of George Nunes and Co.

Mr. John Henry of National Bank of India and several others.

The 'modus operandi' of the gang was discovered by the police to be that their operations generally started after the night patrol passed the particular locality in which these light fingered-gentlemen planned to carry out their machinations.

On September 16 last the police laid a clever trap to netting the gang.

BLACK SHIRTS & SHORTS.

A posse of constables in plain clothes were made to pass through the locality in the Fort. They also posted a few men in disguise lying about near the lamp posts opposite Whiteaway Laidlaw and Co. As soon as the posse of constables had passed, it is alleged one of the men in disguise noticed Mahadev Laxman emerging from an alley dressed in black shorts and black shirt and making his way to climb a pipe on a building nearby.

The plain clothes men stealthily approached the man but on seeing that he was likely to be caught it is alleged he bounded over the fence and ran into the compound of the Cathedral Girl School where unfortunately for him the malee's wife noticed the intruder and raised an alarm. The malee together with the plain clothes men secured the culprit and marched him to the Palton Road police.

LEADER OF GANG CAUGHT.

As a result of statements made by Lexman Mahadev, who the police allege is a leader of the cat burglar gang, he police arrested six others, Subash Gopinath Karwarkar, G. A. Marathe, Vasudev R. Devrukhkar, Balvant Anant Joshi, Babaji Narain Kasar, and Shridhar Ramchandra.

Deputy Inspector Kuvadekar and Sub-Inspector Chavan made vigorous investigations and succeeded in recovering a large collection of property consisting of cigarette cases, gold and silver wrist watches, rings, trinkets generally found on the dressing table, like collar studs, buttons and collar pins and other knick-knacks.

REMAIN LOYAL TO ASSOCIATION

Mr. Kothari's Appeal To B. B. & C. I. Ry. Employees

Mr. Manilal V. Kothari, Hon. Gen. Secretary of the B.B. and C.I. Railway Employees Association, Ahmedabad, in the course of circular dated November 1, issued by him, states:—

"Under the present circumstances I earnestly appeal to you all to remain staunch and loyal to the cause of your Association, and strongly organise yourselves under its banner feeling proud that the President of the Indian National Congress who has a unique record of selfless service and great sacrifices is your worthy President. If you are only properly organised and have only one will and one voice you will succeed in the near future and you will not then require heaps of memorials, appeals and forceful arguments to be made on hill top of Simla or down in the plains of Delhi to make yourselves adequately heard and felt.

A new force, God willing, will be generated which if properly guided will make autocratic Administration and its incidental anomalies impossible. From my little experience I venture to say that if all of you think and act in the wholesome spirit of comradeship and community of interests, if each of you pledges himself to render his quota to the general cause and last but not the least, if each one of you willingly subordinates his personal interest to the interests and well-being of the mass, splendid success is assured, and it is this success that we, as your humble friends, have always aimed at and towards the attainment of which we ardently seek your co-operation.

IRRESISTIBLE STRENGTH

Our strength then will be great and irresistible and I dare say you will not have to take direct action and create a situation of deadlocks for attaining your goal. We do not want strikes, but earnestly seek to acquire real strength which may enable us to peacefully solve our many problems.

Lastly I appeal to you to send without delay your fees for the current year to the office at Ahmedabad and address to me at Jorawarnagar, Kathiawar, all your communications. I shall do the needful in the matters referred to me. I am in everyday communication with the office at Ahmedabad."

HIS OPPORTUNITY

It is gratifying to note that the Governor, who is touring the southern districts in the Presidency, has decided to pay a visit to Siddapur, to see with his own eyes the local conditions, "particularly the no-tax campaign and the revival of other forms of Civil Disobedience activities." Sir Frederick Sykes will then be able to see the daily encroachments of forest on the habitable portions of the district and the ravages of wild animals. In the Budget session of the Council in February last much stress was laid on this aspect of the question by the spokesman for Kanara, and the Government have yet to realise that the district is getting slowly depopulated, owing to their stringent forest policy and, unless there is a definite change for the better, the people of Kanara fear that the whole district will have to be made over to the Forest Department in course of time.

A SUFFERING PEOPLE.

Sir Frederick Sykes who has been doing his best to popularise his Rural Uplift Scheme all over the Presidency, may with some advantage give some attention to the villages in the Kanara District and, if possible, remedy the grievances of the people, if he has time for it. We are told that he is going to Siddapur to study the "no-tax campaign." He can with advantage also study the economic state of the people which is responsible for their present condition and he will then be able to do more justice to the people there than his officers have endeavoured to do hitherto.

Even the Land Revenue Administration Report for 1931-32 admits that the whole of Kanara District was declared as a "special tract" for the grant of takavi "in view of the general backward condition of the agriculturists all over the district in respect of indebtedness and poverty." Their condition has not improved since then; it has become much worse, for the prices of spices have gone down, if anything. At any rate there has been no marked improvement in commodity prices since then. There were a few cases of no-tax campaign, but they were the result more of the economic depression than anything else.

BEYOND ENDURANCE.

The people of Siddapur and sevehal Talukas have suffered beyond human endurance and it is time for the Government to call off their punitive measures and treat them with consideration. There is no sense in carrying on their present methods of administration till the bitter end, for that is not the way of statesmanship.

When Sir Frederick goes to Siddapur he may find a little temporary improvement in the economic condition of the dispossessed agriculturists, because they are in a position to get some work at this time of the year. That is only a temporary phase, and they will again be thrown into the streets shortly. The situation in the district can only improve with a change in the policy of the Government and we doubt whether Sir Frederick Sykes will be able to achieve the impossible.

DUTY OF GOVERNOR.

Not only must the Government give everyhelp to the agriculturists in the district, but they must allow the public, even induce them, to loosen their purse strings and make it possible for the hard pressed ryots to stand on their own feet. We are aware that the permanent officials in the district may have their own views on the subject, and they may not be very favourably inclined to help the sufferers. But it is the duty of His Excellency to brush them aside and do what he thinks best in the circumstances by transcending petty considerations.

Prestige ought not to be allowed to interfere with what he conceives to be his duty. The agricultural situation is hopelessly bad in Kanara District and it requires exceptional sympathy and humanity. This is the opportunity for Sir Frederick Sykes for putting into practice what he has been vehemently preaching all these months.

Reconsideration Necessary

The Bombay Government's refusal to permit the remains of the late Mr. Vithalbhai Patel to be cremated on the Chowpatty sands will be deeply regretted by the public. Their reasons for the refusal are far from convincing. They contend that, if permission is granted for the cremation, "requests are likely to follow that the site should be fenced off and that permission to erect a memorial on it should be given," and that "it might be difficult not to grant these requests." The Government further fear that with the multiplication of such requests the place would "tend to become not only a Hindu burning ground but also a Hindu mausoleum."

We appreciate the delicacy of Government's position in such cases but we must say they have unduly exaggerated their difficulties. It will be noted that they do not anticipate much trouble in the proposed cremation itself. They urge that the Chowpatty foreshore is "a popular resort of all classes and creeds in Bombay," and that "the convenience and sentiments of the residents in the locality must also be taken into consideration." But we cannot imagine why cremation on the foreshore on rare and exceptional occasions should inconvenience or ever be objected to by the people who frequent it or those who reside near it, whatever their creed or class may be.

The only difficulty, if it is really a difficulty, is in the possibility in the future of numerous requests for converting the cremation grounds into sites for memorials. But this difficulty will be appreciated as much by the public as by the Government; and the latter, will have stronger grounds for and more public support in, opposing such requests. We trust Government will respect public feeling in the present case and reconsider their decision.

By Their Deeds

It is not in Bombay and Maharashtra only that Congress workers are putting their heads together and devising new plans of action. We now understand that an informal conference of Congressmen has just been held at Karachi and has arrived at some important decision. The most important is that "for want of confidence in the present Congress leadership" and other causes it is impossible to revive the Civil Disobedience movement in Sind. The Conference has also done well to drop for the present the programme of council entry as it "would find no favour in the province." The question, however, may be reconsidered and decided in the light of future developments if at all the Government should decide to hold general elections in the near future.

The Sind workers are thus concentrating their attention for the present on a constructive programme the details of which may be published in a few days. Whether the All-India Congress Committee meets or not, Swami Govindanand has now a good opportunity to work out his own ideas of effective action.

In Madras, too, a number of Congress workers have met and agreed upon a new popular programme. They have so far set much store by Council entry but as the Government have decided to extend the life of the Council by a year, there will be no need for any immediate electioneering propaganda. It would be preposterous to carry on agitation in support of Council entry under the new reforms, which are still a good way off.

Moreover, the elaborate constructive programme which the Madras workers have pledged themselves to is itself a big one; and if it is meant to be earnestly worked out, it will need all the resources in men and money of the now available number of workers. If Congressmen only talk of constructive programme and their heart is really in the Councils, the electorate will surely see through them and give them short shrift as they have done before. The public will naturally judge any programme by its tangible results and not by political advertising stunts.

Press Views

Boycott, A Blunder

We have repeatedly expressed the view that it would be disastrous if Congressmen who have still the ear of the people, boycott the new legislatures and thus practically leave the field open to the halt, the lame and the blind. The boycott of the existing legislatures by them has also been a blunder. It has immensely weakened the position of progressive nationalist elements in them and has enabled the Government to pass, without much difficulty, measures prejudicial to the interests of the country as also severely restrictive of the constitutional liberties of the people. The reasons in favour of council entry are many and overwhelming. The alternative policy of the Congress has been given a fairly long trial, and it has not only brought suffering and loss, which may be regarded as having their own spiritual value, but also demoralization as admitted by Mahatma Gandhi himself.—"Leader."

Cynical Surrender

The extent to which the Bombay Mill-owners' Association has sought to betray India's interests through the Agreement with Lancashire delegates, has been effectively exposed by Seth Kasturbhai Lalbhai. Forestalling even the Tariff Board report they have complacently agreed to a reduction of duty in return for Lancashire's opinion that the Indian textile industry deserves protection! What kind of protection it is which further strengthens the competitor, Mr. Mody and group alone know.

Mr. Mody has gone further in his generosity at other people's expense. He has injured the hand-loom industry and cynically but completely ignored the interests of cotton growers. The Agreement involves no obligations on Lancashire. It is literally onesided and a surrender of Indian interests.

Mr. Mody may not learn anything from the storm that his unpatriotic action has aroused in the country. But the Lancashire delegates will, if they are wise and far-sighted, take a warning from it.—"National Call."

The Oppressed Millions

Apart from any vote-catching value which may attach to the manner in which the question of rural indebtedness is being handled by certain politicians and publicists, the problem itself presents features which will make it a great menace to the future of India and the stability of any constitution that may be devised if efforts are not made immediately to solve it. At present, it would not be much beside the mark, if the amount of such indebtedness is put down at about Rs. 1,200 crores. With such heavy interest charges to pay annually on such an appalling load of debt, how can the agriculturist ever make the two ends meet? If he is allowed to be in such a hopeless and helpless state of despair would it be any wonder if he gradually drifts into a disposition which will make him listen approvingly to any scheme of desperate remedies that may be whispered into his ears?—"Hitawada."

Manori Liquor Shop Scandal

From what has already appeared in the local press, it is evident that several crimes are being perpetrated in Dharavi Island, by ruffians and hooligans under the evil influence of liquor. Such crimes are a common occurence in almost all the Indian villages where there is a country liquor shop.

The Manori country liquor shop is situated in the very heart of the village, along the main thoroughfares, which is in itself a perennial source of danger to the public as well as school-going children. When religious processions pass along on festive occasions, it is alleged drunken men indulge in filthy language which is outrageous to the sentiment of the participants. Why Government should tolerate the existence of a liquor shop in the heart of a village, which is so very detrimental to the safety of women and children, and the general peace of the village passes one's understanding. As was done in the case of other liquor shops in Salsette, it is hoped, Government will order the removal of the Manori liquor shop from the central place it occupies to-day to some other less-frequented spot in the outskirts of the village.

NATIONALISM AND BIRTH-CONTROL

Congress Should Take Up This Work And Limit Growth Of Population

By VERITAS.

A correspondent has recently argued in your columns that in view of the inevitable conflict between the East and the West in future India should maintain her man-power intact, therefore birth-control should be discouraged and that it is to India's advantage to increase her population as much as possible. I beg to differ. "Man-power" does not mean merely a great number of men, but a number of 'powerful' men.

Many men who had volunteered for active service in the late world war found themselves discarded for want of physical fitness. In the event of a conflict (whether violent or non-violent) it is not so much the quantity but the quality that makes for success, and weaklings would only prove a drag and hindrance to the rest.

CHEAT AND CRIMINAL!

Let us view the matter ethically. Suppose a man issues a cheque for a hundred rupees when he has no balance in the bank. What happens? He is called a cheat and a criminal and is accordingly punished. Take the case of an average Indian. He is, let us suppose, a clerk, small trader or an artizan with an income of aboit Rs. 50 a month. He already has, let us suppose, a wife and three children, besides his old mother and a widowed sister to maintain. He knows that his income is barely sufficient to keep the members of his family alive. A bottle of milk which was previously allotted to two children has now to be doled out to three, and still he begets a fourth and yet a fifth child, and our society instead of stigmatising him as a cheat and criminal as he richly deserves, actually offers him its congratulations! "Hearty congratulations on the birth of your sixth child," pour in from all sides.

The average Indian household cannot afford any servants and the poor wife has to do the cooking, washing, etc., for herself. While she had only one or two children she was able to keep them clean, feed and dress them moderately well and also pay personal attention to their upbringing, and now she has nearly half-a-dozen to look after and she is gradually forced to pay less and less attention to their needs and in course of time becomes so callous that she tells them to 'run into the street and play.'

POOR PHYSIQUE

On top of this perpetual nightmare of poverty the woman finds that by bearing many children in quick succession her constitution is indermined and that she is growing prematurely old. Let us pick up at random an Indian and a European woman, both thirty years old, make them stand side by side, observe their physique and vitality, and we shall find that the Indian woman looks (and feels too) at least ten years older than the European, although in actual fact they are both of the same age. In the same way, Indian children compare very unfavoirably with European children of the same age in the matter of physique and vitality.

FOREIGN EXPLOITATION

It is no use telling ourselves and the world that British exploitation is at the root of India's poverty and emasculation. I for one do not blame the Britishers for exploiting our country knowing as I do that if our forefathers had had the guts to cross the oceans and to conquer England for us, we would have done the same to England as she is doing to us—perhaps worse. Why should the Britishers come over a distance of thousands of miles and suffer the discomforts of a tropical life, but for material exploitation? I know that our leaders would fain believe that the spirit of exploitation is alien to India, although the disgraceful treatment of the lower castes by the so-called high caste Hindus belies this belief.

Why did Gandhiji's Civil Disobedience movement fail? Was it because the masses are against the Congress and in favour of the British Government? Most certainly not. In fact if a referendum were to be taken, I am sure that nearly 95 per cent of the people will vote

Frankly Speaking

WRITING ON THE WALL.

The British Labour Party's triumph in the Municipal elections is an augury of their success at the Parliamentary elections which may be coming within a year or so, unless the Conservatives wish to stick to their posts till the last.

However that may be, there is bound to be a landslide in favour of Labour, unless there is too much weakness among Labour leaders and they again trim their sails to every passing political gust.

It is unfortunate that the Labourites are not in a position to control many of the British Municipal Boroughs, but that may be due to the headway they had to make against the Tories who had signally defeated Labour at the last Municipal elections.

We are not surprised that the Liberals also have been the losers in the struggle. The Liberals seem to have no future either in India or anywhere in the world. The British Liberals have become more effete than their Indian brethren, and the sooner they disappear from the political horizon the better.

THE OLD, OLD STORY.

It is curious that in most of the British Colonies or Possessions there should be political trouble and that the people should be deeply dissatisfied with things as they are.

The mere dismissal of the Ministers does not end the trouble; it is only the beginning. The Maltese are pro-Italian in their sympathies. The Governor's statement that the Ministers have evaded their responsibility deliberately is very familiar to Indians and all those who live in British Colonies.

In Ceylon also matters are coming to a crisis. Only the death of the last Governor has brought about a lull in the political agitation.

The same may be said more or less of Cyprus, Kenya and other British Possessions. But Whitehall will never learn wisdom and will only agree to the demands of the people, when their hands are forced.

PRESTIGE VS. EFFICIENCY.

There is some sense in the letter written by Mr. O'Sullivan, ex-Inspector General of Police in Bengal, to the "Morning Post" that bifurcation of the Police Department and handing over one part to the Governor and another to the Minister is foolish and unthinkable.

The only alternative is to make the Governor responsible for the administration of the whole Department, as some of the reactionaries have suggested.

And yet they call it Responsible Government, if not "Seeds" of Dominion Status. The distrust of the Ministers and necessarily of the people is writ large on the whole scheme.

Whatever the object, there must be full co-operation between the C.I.D. and the ordinary Police, otherwise administration would be made impossible. But there are people who would sacrifice administrative efficiency for the prestige of the rulers. The present is such a case.

NEED FOR CAUTION.

While the strike in the Bombay mills, owing to the reduction of the food allowance continues, it is rumoured that six more mills are likely to be closed during the next few days. Altogether, the industrial position in the city is anything but cheery.

A sinister feature of the situation is the open demand for a general strike by certain Labour leaders.

Apart from the question whether there is any justification for a general strike, it is essential to consider dispassionately whether Labour in the city is strong and organised enough to carry such a strike to a successful issue.

Premature and ill-managed efforts at general strikes in the past have done incalculable injury to the Bombay workmen. They created splits in their own camp and even to-day one set of local Labour leaders is loudly condemning another.

The financial position of the Trade Unions, too, is far from satisfactory. Workers should be on their guard against being hustled.

IS ASTROLOGY AN EXACT SCIENCE?

From Hushedar.

A few days ago an Astrologer complained in the "Chronicle" that he was not supplied by two steamer companies with the names of their steamers, which he wanted for astrological purposes. Now the question is whether Astrology is an exact science like Astronomy!

Chambers' English Dictionary defines Astrology as "the infant stage of the science of the stars," and Encyclopaedia Britannica calls it "unscientific and superstitious." This being the case, not a single physical scientist of outstanding merit has, in recent times, thought fit to write works on Astrology.

The answers of discreet astrologers are almost always vague and general. But when some of them become so daring as to predict future events definitely, nine times out of ten their predictions prove wrong. Everybody knows now that the predictions about Mr. Gandhi's release were almost always false.

Mr. D. Homiyar, a firm believer in the influence of planets on the lives of human beings, in the introduction to his book on "Practical Astrology" unequivocally states that only 26 per cent of those who marry after consulting the astrologers become happy. The rest live and execrate the fortune-tellers.

Nowadays many astrologers, palmists, spiritualists, clairvoyants and such other Mahatmas have graciously come forward to cure the ills of humanity by spiritually cutting the latter's pockets. A "spiritualist" boldly advertises that he is able to give miraculous answers to the written questions of his customers. The answers will be shown in fire and in various preternatural ways. (By-the-bye, why do these wonderful beings insist on "written" questions? Why don't they read the questions from the minds of their customers?) And for teaching the above and various other supernatural phenomena within a period of one month only—you see spiritual knowledge is so easy to acquire—the said advertising "spiritualist" requires a mere trifling sum of Rs. 500 only from his wide-eyed customers.

Indo-German Bureau

From N. R. Bhavan.

I am very much obliged to you for your courtesy in publishing the previous short notice abut my Bureau. Since then I have already received several applications from Indian students proposing to finish their studies in Central Europe, or wishing to obtain systematic training in workshop and factory.

I shall always count it as a privilege to be of service to our students and I shall of course deal with the applications as promptly as possible. May I request you to puzlish this letter as the Bureau has changed its headquarters and it is important that the students should be informed of the new address The Indo-German Information Bureau, Berlin Wilmsderdorf, Zahringerstrasse 9.

May I point out that I am in touch with the authorities of German Universities, Commercial and Technical Colleges as well as with the Directors of the Factories, where practical training is provided under certain conditions to a limited number of students.

The Beggar Problem

From Sadanand C. Mhatre.

With reference to Mr. N. Subramaniam's letter in respect of the above appearing in your to-day's issue of the paper, although much has been said on the subject in the press and on the platform, nothing seems to have been done by the B. B. & C. I. Railway authorities to redress the grievance.

I would, however, suggest one thing to Mr. Subramaniam and if he really takes interest, I would request him to give effect to this suggestion as a final attempt to achieve his object. It will be better if he drafts out a suitable petition to the General Traffic Manager of the Railway concerned and forwards it to him under signatures from thousands of passengers at various stations which will certainly carry weight and bring forth a definite reply from the G.T. Manager. Besides, Mr. Subramaniam will know what objections people have to sign such a petition.

Will Mr. Subramaniam undertake this task if he at all wishes that this beggar nuisance should not be put up till eternity?

LOTTERIES ARE "ILLEGAL"

From Mahaveer Prasad Sooraj Prasad.

With reference to the query of Mr. D. E. Mistri in to-day's issue of the "Chronicle" and your note thereunder, I am in possession of the reply of the Government of Bombay on the subject, which enables me to say that the Goa Lotteries are most certainly "Illegal".

On the strength of the reply referred to above, I wrote to the Commissioner of Police, Bombay to put a stop to these foreign lotteries; but the Deputy Commissioner of Police, Bombay, gave me an indifferent and absurd reply, which is also in my possession, stating that if I wanted to have these lotteries stopped, I must apply to the Government to supply some more policemen to the Deputy Commissioner of Police, Bombay, for the purpose of stopping the illegal lotteries, as if it were not his duty to stop these foreign and illegal lotteries. My inference from such a reply as above is that the police has no mind to stop these illegal lotteries. The consequence of this is that from the City of Bombay, the plague of Goa lotteries has spread in the whole of Bombay Presidency and it is more than probable that the Goa lotteries might assume such a huge dimension as the Calcutta Derby lotteries or the Irish Free State lotteries in near futur

These lotteries are draining away a crore of rupees from British India—say, the Bombay Presidency—annually. Some money is given away as prizes and some is used in Goa for certain purposes. The surplus now in the hands of the various directors is so much that there is going on money lending business now. The money is lent to Municipalities, P. W. D. and other Government departments of Goa.

Goans And The Functions

From L. A. Dias.

It seems, we Goans are grateful lot, and liberal too.

Are not our leaders surveying the present acute situation, dreadful depression, lamentable plight and mitigating the deplorable state of life of their suffering countrymen by squandering the funds of the institutions they govern, and going round with subscription lists to collect funds for functions they propose to give or organise in honour of someone? And, I do not know when these benign leaders of ours are doing such a humanitarian work why our two sister institutions, of Our Lady of Piety, find difficulty to come to the rescue of hunger-stricken brothren, and even to collect its subscriptions. Is this not mysterious?

To honour any satraps, ploutarchs and such other exalted persons is a more humanitarian duty than "Charity." That is why even our Pardres are shouting high and low from the press, platforms and pulpits to rise for such occasions, but when it conveniently suits their purpose, otherwise it is an unpardonable sin. This is the Religion of Convenience, that is why they are called God-fearing ministers of the Church of Christ! However, this is not the place for me to sermonise on these ethics and antics, but I hope our Socrates do know the ferment in political situation, and the gulf existing between the old and new rising generation with nationalist sympathies.

By the way, who represents the Goan community, H. E. the Consul-General for Portugal or the Goan Union? It is learnt that the representation for the Address made by the Goan Union has been kindly rejected in view of the direct representation for the Address made by H. E. the Consul-General for Portugal. It is also learnt that the Consul-General for Portugal has addressed a request on unofficial letter-papers to various institutions and clubs to collaborate with him to give the Address.

Therefore, one would like to know, since H. E. the Consul-General for Portugal directly approached H. E. Sir Frederick Sykes, whether the Address is to be given in the name of the Portuguese subjects resident in this city or in the name of the Goan community. If it is in the name of the former, H. E. the Consul may be saved from the hands of his critics, but if it is to be given in the name of the latter, H. E. the Consul-General for Portugal owes an explanation of this role, because it is clear from the refusal that Senhor, Doutor, Alves had no mandate from the Goan Union to make such representation to H. E. Sir Frederick Sykes, in the name of the Goan community, and the Goan Union will do well to explain the whole matter, and boycott this Address, and present their own, if they at all want to give in the name of the Community that the Union boast to represent. Au-Revoir.

MORE DADAR TRAGEDY REVELATIONS

Four Witnesses Including Deceased's Sister Give Evidence Describing Movements Of Suspect Shevantibai On The Day

Four witnesses were examined for the prosecution at the resumed hearing on Friday in the case in which Henry Zaoba Salve and his cousin Shevantibai Khondiram are charged with the allefied murder on September 19 last, of Mrs. Freny Tarapore, in her flat at Jala Mansion, Dadar Parsi Colony. The case is being tried by Mr. N. T. Jungalwalla, Fifth Presidency Magistrate, Dadar.

Eruchsha Ardeshir Limkie, a Building Supervisor, residing in the Parsi Colony, deposed that the deceased was the wife of his cousin, Erach Tarapore. She was also related to witness as his uncle's daughter. He was taking his food with them as a boarder.

WHAT WITNESS FOUND.

On the day of the murder, witness went to supervise the building work on Vincent Road, of which Mr. Erach had taken the contract. When he returned to Jala Mansion for lunch, at 12-15 midday, he found Mr. Erach was not there. To his surprise, the door leading to Mr. Erach's flat, which usually remained closed, was open. With her food lying in front of her, he beheld Gordafarid, the deceased's baby, crying as if in fright.

Entering the front bed-room he found a sewing machine upset. He was now unbuttoning his coat when he found himself coming in touch with what proved to be the legs of the deceased who was lying on a mattress on the floor and covered with a mosquito curtain. He removed the curtain and to his horror there lay the deceased in a pool of blood with her throat cut, and several injuries on her head.

ALARM RAISED.

Thereupon he raised an alarm and knocked at a neighbour's door. Running to the second floor he asked the tenants for help. He then hastened to Mr. Erach at the works, and told him that something horrible had happened in the house. Witness came back to the house accompanied by Mr. Erach, his clerk and two Pathan servants. Then he went out to call the doctor and the police and inform his relatives.

In another 10 minutes he was back again at the house, where he saw large crowds collected. Subsequently he came to know the theft had been committed. Shown a gold chain, witness touchingly remarked that it was the one he had seen Freny wearing when she was alive, and which had been missing since her murder.

AYAH QUESTIONED.

The second accused Shevantibai, witness went on to say, was the ayah to the deceased, and he had seen her coming to the flat with Erach's daughter Daulat, just as he returned there after informing his relatives. He questioned the Ayah as to wheher she had asked Freny to close the door when she went out. To this she told him that a Parsi gentleman had called on Freny and that she had heard Freny asking him: "How is it you come after so many years?"

She also asked him about the health of Shirinbai and the strange visitor's own children. She told witness that after this had been overheard by her in the conversation between the deceased and the Parsi visitor, she went away to the school, carrying tiffin to the children. She further told him that the visitor was wearing a "phenta." Thereafter, witness stated, the police arrived and held an enquiry. He was then questioned by them and his statement recorded.

Cross-examination of witness has been reserved.

EVIDENCE OF DECEASED'S SISTER.

A sister of the deceased, named Mrs. Meherbai Master, in her evidence, next, stated that she resided in Bikkhu Mansion, some 500 yards away from Jalla Mansion. Witness used to go to stay at Jalla Mansion often, and the deceased used to visit her often.

About 11-45 a.m. on the day of the murder, witness stated, the accused Ayah came to tell her that her sister would be visiting her that evening. Surprised at this, witness asked her how it was that the deceased sent her such a message for the first time, and told her to tell her sister to come when she liked. Witness then asked her as to what Freny was doing at home, to which the Ayah replied that some Parsi 'Sheth' had come to see her. She then went away saying that she had left children's tiffin in the school, and so she wanted to go there soon.

Shortly after the departure of the Ayah, witness's brother-in-law's chauffeur turned up, and grasping her arm told her that her sister Freny had fainted. He had come at about 12-25 noon. Telling her her husband to follow her the chauffeur dragged her into a car and drove away.

Here witness continued her evidence in sobs, and said that at the entrance of Jalla Mansion she met Dr. Daji who told her that Freny was no more. She then went upstairs and found her sister lying in a pool of blood.

Cross-examination of the witness has been reserved.

SERVANT'S DEPOSITION.

In the course of his evidence Gangoobai Nanji a domestic servant carrying tiffin to the children from the Parsi Colony to the Convent School, opposite the Tata Mills, stated that she used to do this work for her aunt for two months until one Tuesday, a month back. She was also taking tiffin to a daughter of the deceased, whom she came to know recently. She used to take tiffin first from witness Meherbai's house at about 11 a.m. and then go with the tiffin-carriar to the house of the deceased. Every day she would come and stand outside the door and ring the bell and the accused Ayah would open the door and give her the tiffin. On her return from the school she would take back the tiffin-carriers to their respective owners.

Recalling the way on which Mrs. Freny was done to death, witness stated that after receiving the tiffin carrier from Meherbai's house at 11 a.m. as usual, she went to Jalla Mansion and rang the bell. Accused Shevantibai gave her the tiffin carrier, and went in closing the door behind her. Witness returned that day from the school at about 2-30 p.m. and found a crowd collected at the deceased's house. A constable driving her away she went to Meherbai's house. Witness's statement was recorded at the Matunga Police Station a few days later.

Cross-examination of the witness was reserved.

EVIDENCE OF COMPLAINANT'S BROTHER.

The last witness of the day was Mr. Jalejar A. Tarapore, the elder brother of Mr. Erach Tarapore, the complainant in the case. He resided at "Family House," about 200 yards away from Jalla Mansion. He used to visit his brother occasionally.

At about 10-15 a.m. on the day of the murder, witness had gone to Jehanbux's house, and thence to his brother's house about 25 minutes later. At that time Freny, her youngest daughter and the accused Ayah were in the house. He left in about a quarter of an hour after having inquired after the health of the family. He then went to the house of his eldest brother, remaining there for nearly 40 minutes and returned to his own house at about 12-15 noon after a stroll. As he was preparing to go for his bath at 12-30 he learnt of the murder of Freny. He then visited the scene of the murder, where he met his brother Erach.

Half an hour later, the second accused came there, and, on seeing Freny dead, started crying. Witness questioned her as what had happened after he had left the house, and the Ayah is said to have told him that while she was preparing children's tiffin in the kitchen, a stranger had called on the deceased. She had further told him that she had left the house, taking tiffin to the school after hearing the conversation between the stranger and Freny. When first witness had gone to Freny's house he had noticed the Ayah wearing a white sari, but when she returned from the school and began crying she had put on a pink sari.

AYAH'S PRESENCE.

Cross-examined by Mr. Joseph, witness replied that he had not seen the first accused Salve prior to the Coroner's inquest. When he had gone to Jalla Mansion at 10-40 a.m. on September 19, and rung the bell, Freny, her child and the accused Ayah were near the door. The Ayah had then gone to the kitchen, but witness saw her again at the door when he left. His statement was taken by the police a couple of days before the Coroner's inquest was held. Asked if he carried a watch in his pocket, witness took out his watch and showed it to the court.

The prosecution is conducted by Mr. C. B. Velkar. The first accused is defended by Mr. K. Joseph and the second accused is defended by Mr. B. B. Pathare.

Further hearing will be resumed to-day (Saturday).

"FIRST INDIAN NATIONALIST"

Mrs. Naidu Explains Significance Of Guru Nanak's Teachings

JAYANTI CELEBRATION

Jamiat Singh Appeals to Sikhs to Sink Differences, Unite and Fight for India's Liberty.

Mrs. Sarojini Naidu made a spirited Urdu speech as president of the public meeting held on the Chaupati sands on Friday evening to celebrate the Guru Nanak Jayanti. Mrs. Naidu said that the Sikh Gurus of whom Guru Nanak Deo was the first, were born at a time when there was political chaos in the north of India and worked for the attainment of unity amongst all the communities and what they wanted was exactly what India needed to-day—Liberty, Equality and Fraternity amongst all Indians. The celebration of such Jayantis as the Guru Nanak Jayanti had become a necessity specially at a time like this on India's political history when people had forgotten the lessons of peace and unity that were taught to them by their prophets and were quarrelling amongst themselves.

Continuing the speaker said that the Sikhs as a community had always stood for nationalism as against communalism, and were always ready for a united Indian front on one condition—that the Hindus and Muslims stood united.

NANAK'S TEACHINGS.

The speaker explained to her audience the tenets of the Sikh religion and the work, not only in India but abroad, that had been done by Guru Nanak Guru Nanak wanted his followers to strive for the freedom of the country, selflessness and fight for truth justice and service of motherland.

The speaker recalled the great courage that had been shown by the Sikhs during the Gurudwara fight when they boldly faced the latter and fell down injured without raising their hands though they had with them swords dangling by their sides. They had become the personifications of Mahatma Gandhi's non-violence. That was the non-violence of the brave. The speaker concluded by saying that if the tenets of the Sikh religion were followed implicitly the attainment of India's liberty would not be far off.

FIRST NATIONALIST.

Sardar Jamiat Singh also spoke next gave several anecdotes for the life of Guru Nanak Deo. He said that Guru Nanak was the first internationalist as he wanted his followers to treat all the citizens of the world as their brothers.

The speaker appealed to the Sikhs as fell as all Indians to forget their differences, unite and fight for the common goal—India's liberty. He said that however much the communities fought amongst themselves for power, as long as a foreign Government was at the head they remained slaves. He earnestly appealed to the communities to sink their differences and fight the common enemy.

Sirdar Jagat Singh and others also spoke.

INDIANS' RIGHTS IN CEYLON

Threat To Mobilise Forces If Indians Are Neglected

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

COLOMBO, Oct. 30.

An open air mass meeting was held at Galle-Face-Green, the Esplanade of Colombo, on Sunday (29th instant), when the citizens of Colombo in their thousands thronged together to mourn the death of Sjt. V. J. Patel. The Hon'ble Mr. C. W. Kannangara, the Minister of Education, occupied the chair. He paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the departed patriot in Singhalese and then he conducted two minutes' silent prayer.

Mr. H. M. Desai, who had the privilege of being closely associated with the late Sjt. V. J. Patel, in Bombay, as one of the Hony. Secretaries of the Bombay Suburban District Congress Committee of which Sjt. V. J. Patel was the President, in moving the main condolence resolution dwelt at length on the cardinal characteristics of Sjt. Patel, as a great political fighter and a shrewd diplomat. Sjt. Patel—as the General Secretary of the Indian National Congress, as Mayor of Bombay and as Speaker of India's premier legislature, said Mr. Desai, created new traditions for his successors to follow and never in the annals of India's fight for her political emancipation, had a more conspicuous figure made his appearance than the late Sjt. V. J. Patel.

The resolution was seconded by Mrs. Saravanamuttu, a member of Ceylon State Council in Tamil, and supported by a number of speakers, and was carried, all standing.

SLEEPING NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

The National Committee of Ceylon that was organised more than a year ago by the Ceylon Liberal League, met on the 28th instant, after a long slumber of nearly ten months, to support the Reforms scheme as set out in the Memoranda of the Board of Ministers to the Secretary of State. The Secretaries of the Nalonal Committee, had twice to postpone the meeting for want of support, and on the 28th instant, when the meeting sat to adopt the resolution supporting the Ministerial despatch, hardly eleven members were present, all the Indian, Tamil, Muslim and representatives of other minority communities absenting as a protest.

The Chairman admitted inspite of the auspicious start of the National Committee, it was a fact that they were sleeping for a number of months. There were several reasons for the suspension of their activities, one reason undoubtedly being the conflict of views with regard to what is known as Minority of Safeguards."

One of the members drew the attention of the Chairman to the fact that the meeting could not adopt the resolution supporting the Ministerial Despatch, as there was no quorum. But the Chairman arbitrarily ruled him out of order.

A scene was created and Advocate Ponnabalam, representing the Tamil community, accused the chairman of resorting to Star Chamber methods upon which the Chairman asked him to apologise, but he stood firm. It is a pity that a few Singalese, who pity that a few Singalese, who hold mistaken notions of Reforms are masquerading as self-constituted leaders, and are trying to flout the wishes of the Jabna Tamils, the Muslims and the Indians in Ceylon.

IMPERTINENT ATTORNEY.

The Government of Ceylon, a few months back, had appointed a Delimitation Commission with the object of re-adjusting the electoral wards in Ceylon, so as to give equal opportunities to all communities to have an effective voice in the next election of the State Council.

The Indian Association submitted a written memorandum, asking for a adequate number of seats in the State Council, proportionate to the strength of its population in Ceylon. It was pointed out that in the existing State Council, there were only 3 Indians, whereas in fact, looking to the strength of the population, at least seven to eight seats should have been secured by the Indians.

The oral evidence on behalf of the Indians was given by Messrs. S. Vaitilingam, Member, Ceylon State Council, G. R. Motha and H. M. Desai. The Attorney-General, who is one of the three Commissioners questioned whether, the Indians in Ceylon whose main pursuit is money-making have leisure enough to give up their business and devote time to politics by entering the State Council. Then ensued a wordy war between the Attorney-General and Mr. Desai, who pointed out that if the interests of Indians in Ceylon who number 1/5ths of the entire population of the Island are jeopardised, the Indians shall have to mobilise their forces and capture more seats in the Council.

MAHASABHA'S CORRECT LEAD

Pt. G. S. Misra On Failure Of Congress To Bring About Hindu-Muslim Unity

APPLE OF DISCORD

Appeal to Muslims to Give Honest Consideration to Maha Sabha's Political Lead.

Bombay, Nov. 3.

Pandit Gauri Shankar Misra, General Secretary, Hindu Maha-Sabha, has issued the following statement to the Press:—

In the present state of confusion and chaos among the politicals of this country, the Hindu Maha Sabha, although a non-political body, has given correct lead to the Hindus and Hindusthan, and if that is availed of, I am sure the political horizon of Hindusthan will become limned with provoking encouragement and hope for the rebirth of ancient glory of Swaraj.

FAILURE TO BRING ABOUT UNITY.

The efforts of the Congress, during the last twenty years to bring about Hindu-Muslim unity through pacts and agreements having completely failed in its objective, the Hindu Maha Sabha at its Ajmer session this year has suggested restriction of protection of minority communities of India only to their religion, culture and language, like other minorities of other nations of the world.

The fact that Muslim patriotism for Hindusthan waxes or wanes, according as Hindus accept or decline their impossible demands, will always drive Muslims towards the alien power which alone can cast crumbs before them, and, therefore, the Hindu Maha Sabha rightly excludes, in future, any discussion of political rights regarding any effort for communal unity.

Besides Hindu Maha Sabha has urged upon the Hindu nation to organise and consolidate its scattered forces, for therein alone, in its view, lay drawing together of minority communities into the already existing Hindu or Hindi nation and the certain resultant liberation of Hindusthan.

APPLE OF DISCORD.

The Britisher has thrown an apple of discord among the communities of Hindusthan in the form of the unwanted and much-discredited Communal Award. The Hindu Maha Sabha has condemned it, and has advised the Hindus to send their best men to the Legislatures to fight the invidious poison of the Award, and make it dead as far as possible. The Hindu Maha Sabha will, of course, like to join hands with all those parties, which aim at capturing the Legislatures provided those parties honestly declare their firmest faith only in common electorates, ability to be the only criterion in Services, uniform principle of protection of minorities if the Covenant of the League of Nations is refused to be followed either by the British Government or the minorities concerned, and last but not the least, provided those parties supported those Hindu candidates only who like our "Greatest Man of the World," Mahatma Gandhi, would take pride in being called a Hindu.

BREEDING CLASS CONFLICT.

The Hindu Maha Sabha has not failed even the labourer and the peasant of this country. It has sympathised with them in their effort for uplift and betterment, but has warned the country against all such movements which will breed class conflict and thereby delay the attainment of Swaraj. The Hindu Maha Sabha wants all interests to join hands in the fight for liberation of Hindusthan, after which there will be ample time to think and decide which interest to rule and which to obey or disappear.

APPEAL TO MUSLIMS.

I hope our Muslim or non-Muslim friends, who are so hopelessly possessed by the spirit of communalism that they scent communalism even where there is none, will give their honest consideration to the points raised in this note regarding the Maha Sabha's political lead to the Hindu nation to which every soul living in Hindusthan and eating its salt, quite irrespective of his or her religion, in my humble opinion, belongs. —A.P.

CONFIDENCE RETURNING IN NEW YORK MARKET

Attention Of Traders Diverted To Bureau Report To Be Issued On Wednesday

("Chronicle" Special).

Bombay, Friday; 11 p.m.

In New York markets confidence seemed to be gradually returning owing to encouraging developments at Washington. However the attention of traders has been diverted for the moment, to the Bureau Report, which will be issued on Wednesday.

Higher gold price has been very reassuring, but activity was very restricted, and the price movements were small and far between. The trading in January opened at 9.63, i.e. one point higher than the previous closing rate. The market developed some steadiness on favourable Liverpool advices and better stock market, and a good deal of buying was in evidence, which raised the price to 9.67. At this level some December liquidation and southern selling appeared, and value lost some ground, but thereafter, prices again moved up on renewed local and foreign buying in fairly active trading.

Liverpool Wheat opened at 56, 59-1|4 and 60-7|8 about 3|4d. higher than the previous closing rate. There was some speculative buying influenced by firmer advices from abroad, and the market ruled very steady.

The London Stock Exchange quietened down owing to the approaching settlement.

Gilt-edged securities were decidedly more active and 3-1|2 per cent Indian Sterling Loan was quoted at £86-3|4, unchanged from the previous closing rate.

The London Exchanges opened with the Sterling-Dollar at 4.84-1|2, and continued very steady, without any appreciable gain.

The Franc opened at 79.56, but soon declined to 79.53, thereafter gradually losing ground.

The local Silver Market opened steady at 56|14; 56|15 and 57|1. Prices early eased on easier Shanghai advices, but later, on receipt of steadier London silver cables, the market partially improved and closed steady at 56|13, 56|14 and 57. closed steady at 56|14, 56|14 and 5

Gold opened steady at 33|0|6, 33|0|9 and 33|1|3. Early in the session, there was a slight advance on some scattered buying, but eased thereafter on the absence of any support. However, as the Franc showed early strength, the market improved only to subsequently fall off on the strength of Sterling-Paris exchange and closed easy at 32|14, 32|14 and 32|14|6.

MADRAS REPORT

"Shattered Finance And Empty Treasury"

MADRAS, Nov. 3.

According to the "Madras Mail" it is reported that the Maharajah of Dewas (Senior) has received a letter from the Agent to the Governor General, Central India, dated 23rd October. The letter, according to the information received, begins with stating that the Maharaja has left the State of his own accord, though its finance is shattered and its Treasury empty.

It goes on to state that the action of the Maharajah is not conducive to the interests of good government or well-being of the population. According to the same source it informs His Highness that unless he returns to the State before November 10th, the Government of India will have no option but to assume the control of the State's Government.—A. NATIONALISM AND BIRTH-CONTROL for Congress, b ut unfortunately this overwhelming majority of Congress sympathisers are so circumstanced and handicapped in life that they can do precious little to further the Congress cause. Day and night, awake or asleep they are faced with the problem of how to pay their debts, at least the interest, and how to procure sufficient food for themselves and their large and ever-increasing families.

It is useless to talk of self-respect, courage or patriotism to a man whose children are starving at home, who is in arrears of rent and who is full of debts, and I am sure that fully 95 per cent of our people are in debt, are under-nourished and terribly worried, and so long as Poverty and Hunger stalk the country, the British Government will be able to hold their own against a thousand Gandhis.

MORE SHACKLES

Every new-born child in India at present (every additional mouth to feed) is a debit to Indian nationalism and an asset to the British Government. Every new-born child helps to increase the sum-total of the Nation's poverty and to further consolidate the position of the foreign exploiter. I have no hesitation in saying that if we could somehow reduce our population by about 50 per cent, we could have "Swaraj" straightaway. The more we increase, the more our poverty and consequent demoralisation and abject submission to tyranny. It is, therefore, the duty of every patriotic Indian to practise and preach birth-control and try to bring about a substantial reduction in our numbers in the course of the next few generations.

I submit that the bringing of a new life into the world is a great responsibility, and it is no use deliberately putting our fingers in the fire and saying "God will help." We should not forget that God only helps those who help themselves. I say it is a downright sin to bring a baby into the world when we are not able to provide for its proper nourishment, education and upbringing. The ambition of every father should be to give his child a better start in life than he himself had, and judged by this standard I am sure that 95 per cent of our countrymen will be found to be complete failures.

CONGRESS AND BIRTH-CONTROL

In my opinion this question of birth-control is of such tremendous importance to the welfare of our nation that it should take precedence over all other items in the Congress programme, such as Swadeshi and Untouchability. I know that the highbrows will object to 'artificial' methods of birth-control, conveniently forgetting that we broke away from Nature many generations ago and that practically all that we do now is artificial and unnatural—our clothes, houses, food (cooked), electric lights, railways, trams, etc., all these are quite artificial. If we could bring about a substantial reduction in our numbers there would be food enough and to spare for everybody in spite of foreign exploitation and with the increase in our material prosperity we could create conditions favourable to the growth of self-reliance, self-respect, character, courage and patriotism.

TROUBLE IN FELLOWSHIP SCHOOL

Students Refuse To Attend Classes

To protest against the action of the Chairman of the Managing Committee of the Fellowship School, in dismissing Mr. Shukla, the Principal of the School, the students of the Secondary Department met in the school compound on Friday morning.

They had already met on October 25th, and passed resolutions protesting against the action of the Chairman and declaring that they would take steps for a further protest.

They had sent a copy of these resolutions to the Chairman after he refused to grant them a personal interview. When it was found that Mr. Trilokiker instead of Mr. Shukla was officiating as Principal, the students refused to attend the school and gathered in the compound.

RESOLUTION CONFIRMED.

Mr. Menon and Mr. Upadhyaya came to persuade them to attend the assembly but they refused to listen to them. They confirmed the resolution of October 28th and passed further resolutions expressing regret at the Chairman's behaviour and repeating their demand for bringing back Mr. Shukla and declaring the intention to continue the strike till their demands were granted. The students then walked in procession with a black flag and raised cries of "Trilokiker Go Back" and "Come Back Shukla," after which they dispersed.

PEAKED CAPS TO GO

London's Special Constables Will Wear Helmets In Future

Under an order issued by Lord Trenchard, Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, Special Constables undergoing instruction in patrol and street duties will in future wear regulation police helmets, instead of the peaked caps, which have been part of their uniform.

Hundreds of these men are to undergo intensive training during the coming winter. In times of emergency they may be mobilised to assist the regulars at a moment's notice.

In practice it has been found that their peaked caps have made the "specials" unnecessarily conspicuous.

Apart from this consideration, the hard helmet gives greater protection to the head than the cap.

GOLD POLICY INEFFECTIVE

Falling Away Of Speculative Interest In Cotton

LONG VIEW CONSTRUCTIVE

Something Should Be Done For Indian Agriculturist.

Bombay, Nov. 2.

Successful opportunism must of necessity be founded on great flexibility of mind. There is no place in it for obstinacy. A line of action once proved wrong or ineffective must immediately be recognised as such and changed state Messrs. Langley and Co.

On that score there can be no complaint against the American Government. President Roosevelt's domestic gold policy was ineffective. At once, and before it was generally anticipated, he authorised the purchase of foreign gold. But there he was, and in fact still is faced with the initiation of a battle of the currencies.

PEGGING OF CROSS RATE.

Last week we stressed the probability of Britain not being able to afford too conservative a policy in face of a falling dollar and now there is the report from the Washington correspondent of the "Chicago Tribune" to the effect that the basis of a tentative agreement providing for the pegging of the sterling-dollar cross rate has been reached between the British and U. S. Governments. If that is correct—we are writing before there is any official confirmation of the report—then, obviously, the news is of the very greatest importance.

We suggested that Britain's policy could not be too conservative. But we most certainly did not anticipate a swing to the other extreme in the handing over to America of tre whole ini tiative in a gold policy for the dollar and sterling groups. For if the pound is pegged to the dollar that is what it amounts to—with President Rosevelt as a Financial Generalissimo.

STERLING MIDWAY.

Bank chtques are dangerous instruments. We doubt whether the British Government will commit themselves quite so unreservedly, unless of course they know very much more of Mr. Roosevelt's intentions than the business world knows. And from yesterday's action of the dollar relative to sterling and sterling relative to the franc we incline to the opinion that it is much more likely that sterling will follow a course midway between the fixed franc asd the declining dollar.

Although this course brings a strain on the franc slightly less than would come from joint and equal sterling dollar depreciation relative to gold, yet that strain must still, inevitably, be immense.

In cotton markets the week has witnessed a falling away in speculative interest. A rapid succession of pronouncements has left the speculator bewildered and averse to committing himself extensively until more is known of the U. S. Government's monetary policy. This new gold policy must be seen in operation for a time. And meanwhile the speculator is sitting on the fence.

There is also a bureau ahead. The crop looks larger than the last estimate. Until its publication this latest crop report might well be a sobering influence but statistics now-a days play a minor role and we doubt whether even an appreciably larger figurt would depress prices after publication.

Day to day fluctuations are im possible to gauge but for the longer view we strongly favour the constructive side of the New York market.

BOMBAY MARKET

The undertone in the Bombay market during the week has been firm, late crop movement relieving the market of selling pressure and Japanese Houses, particularly up to last week-end, being persistent buyers of contracts.

Although little is known officially regarding the lifting of the Japanese boycott there is an underlying feeling of optimism regarding the probable realisation of that event before November 10th. A sttlement at some time mus be reached and we see no reason for undue delay.

RATIO RUMOURS

Then there are those persistent rumours concening a change in the rupee-sterling ratio. That might be a distant prospect, or it might not. We don't know. But certain it is that something will have to be done for the Indian agriculturalist and a lowering of the rupee ratio would be the easiest and most effective measure. And no tariff could be as effective an aid to the Textile Industry as would be the increasing of the purchasnig power of the agriculturalist by giving him more rupees for his crop. It seems everybody would be pleased. With a popularity so unusual awaiting a measure its realisation would appear to be only a matter of time.

There has been rather less export demand during the week and the spot market is quiet.

Britain, in our opinion, will see that too great a handicap is not placed on sterling quoted commodities. If, by any chance, there is agreement on the pegging or even moderate cotstrol of thh dollar cross rate then the outlook will be very considerably improved. But meanwhile for purchases we prefer markets in America.

WALES' WELCOME DECISION

To Resume Rugby Relations With France

(SPECIAL CABLE.)

PARIS, Nov. 3.

Very great satisfaction is felt over the news that Wales has accepted the principle of resuming Rugby relations with France, being satisfied that French Rugby is orthodox.

It is hoped the Franco-Wales match will be played at Easter (1934) in Paris.

It is understood at a meeting of the Welsh Rugby Union at Cardiff, it was announced that a secret committee of four, one from each home unions, will be visiting France to inquire into the "bona fides" of the game on amateur question.

Wales being satisfied already in this direction, has informed other unions that provided nothing contrary to their views is discovered during the secret visit to France, it will whatever the other unions might decide, resume relations with France.

LEWANAI FAKIR FOR KABUL

Released From Jail Sequel To Indo-Afghan Govt. Negotiations

PESHAWAR, Nov. 3.

As a result of negotiations between the Government of India and the Afghan Government, Lewanai, "The Mad Fakir" arrested in the middle of October in the Khyber Agency at Torkham, the British boundary post, on a charge of disturbing the peace on the Ando-Afghan Frontier during the past two years, has been permitted to proceed to Kabul.

Since his arrest with his three companions, all the four had been lodged in the Attack Fort. They left last evening for Kabul.

During their detention King Nadirshah's written offer of pardon, provided he returned to Kabul and surrendered, was found in possession of the Lewanai Fakir. The Fakir was the instigator of a rebellion in the Khost (Southern Province of Afghanistan) last winter. Later he deputed his emissaries to stir the Bajaur rising, necessitating the recent aerial operations.

Gourmalang: an associate of the Fakir in the Khost rebellion, has also been arrested in the Afghan territory and taken to Kabul.—A. P.

CASE AGAINST POONA EUROPEAN

Medical Officer Charges Him With Defamation

POONA, Nov. 3.

The case in which Khan Bahadur Dr. K. D. Khambatta, Medical Officer of Health, Poona City Municipality has charged Mr. J. D. Jenkins of Poona, with defaming him in a letter published in a Bombay paper came up before Mr. Vaidya, Additional District Magistrate, to-day.

The complainant quoted certain passages from the letter which he considered were false or defamatory. He denied that plague had been in epidemic form throughout the year or that efforts had been made to conceal this fact as mortality figures were published daily. Far from not taking precaution against plague, Cholera and Typhoid, witness said he had inserted warning notices in papers and when the first case was reported he had taken all precautions for segregation, whitewashing and disinfection.

Towards the close of witness' statement, a letter from the accused was put in which the latter said he had quite overlooked the fact that complainant was the Health Officer and had written in a temper, for which he apologised and promised to do his best to make such amends as lay in his power. The Magistrate, thereupon thought that the case should stop there and Messrs. G. R. Dandwate and D. B. Poonawalla, the latter on behalf of Mr. Jenkins, promised again to take up efforts made previously to bring about a compromise.—A. P.

SCHEME FOR KILLING RATS

POONA, Nov. 3.

An intensive scheme of rat baiting and destruction spread over a fortnight was outlined by Rao Bahadur Chitre, specialist for rat destruction with the Haffkine Institute, Bombay, before a meeing of all health and executive officers of the Poona City, Cantonment and Suburban area and Kirkee to-day.

These authorities promised to consider the probable cost to each local body which Rao Bahadur Chitre said he would submit shortly and intimate him if they could pay their quota of expenses.

"Geneva Plan A Mockery"

Baron Von Neurath Defends Germany's Secession From League

"What next?"

This is the question put by Baron von Neurath, the German Foreign Minister, towards the end of a speech to the foreign Press on Oct. 16, in which he vigorously defended his Government's action, writes the Berlin correspondent of the "News Chronicle."

"The answer to this question," he continued, "is not Germany's business, but that of the other Powers. It is now up to them to make the next move. Let the Conference show what they can do. Our departure need be no obstacle to their work.

"We are disarmed, and none can deny the vast discrepancy in armaments between us and other nations. It is true the others have now no longer the possibility of concentrating their efforts on a second disarmament of Germany; it is to be hoped that their task of coming to an agreement about their mutual disarmament will be all the clearer to them.

"This implies that they have also in their hands the future fate of the League of Nations, whose failure to bring about general disarmament and to get Germany equality of rights has deprived it of any value for Germany.

"It has not fulfilled its real chief purpose, the carrying out of Article 8 of the Covenant.

"Germany will, of course, at any time consider serious proposals for disarmament, and will continue to be ready on basis of equal rights to reach an understanding with regard to her future armaments regime.

"It is not our claims," he declared, "but rather the attitude of the other side which has made it impossible to proceed with the negotiations. The British Foreign Secretary on Sturday, with the concurrence of France and the United States, substituted a new plan for the MacDonald plan.

THE NEW PLAN

"Now what is the meaning of this plan? According to it a disarmament of the highly-armed States is to be postponed for four years, but even for the later period, no definite undertaking is to be given. Disarmament of the highly-armed States is made dependent on the success of the system of control. In practice, however, this control is limited to Germany, because only she in the next four years would be subject to the drastic limitation of armaments.

"Consequently it would be possible at any moment for the other Powers to use the non-functioning of control or alleged breaches of the agreement as an excuse for evading their material obligations to disarm.

"The attitude of the Powers amounts to this:

"To postpone their own disarmament indefinitely, whilst Germany is to be denied any adjustment of armaments.

"The replacement of 100,000 well-trained men of the Reichswehr by twice the number of short-service men is clearly a further weakening of our present war defence force Germany would have 200,000 rifles in the hands of men who had been trained for a short period in contrast to about 8,000,000 French rifles.

"It is merely a mockery if this second disarmament of Germany is to be justified on the slogan of 'No rearmament by Germany.'"

Was it possible (he asked) for the Governments seriously to believe that Germany would accept a plan of such a nature

"Was it really believed possible that the German Government could agree to a trial period, the idea of which is a defamation that cannot be discussed, and the reason for which I can only describe as an insulting slander on the German Government and a completely baseless suspicion of her polical intentions?"

What was the justification given for this impossible plan? It was the supposed endangering of European peace by the new Germany.

"What," he asked, 'has the new German Government done which would induce anyone in the world to pretend, with even an appearance of justice, that we are thinking of endangering peace?"

UNITED FRONT

He declared, after the Paris conversations between the French, British and American Governments, when Germany was readmitted to the negotiations, they were disappointed and surprised to find that the basis upon which the deliberations of the Conference had so far taken place had ceased to exist. It became clear that the British plan was no longer recognised even by its authors, and that it was to be fundamentally changed.

During the last negotiations representatives of the United States and of Italy tried to act as intermediaries, but all their endeavours failed "owing to the tendency on the part of other powers to build up a common front against Germany."

"We were prepared," said the Baron, "to begin without delay the transformation of the Reichswehr into a short-service army, we declined no prohibition of arms as being too drastic, provided it was applied in the same way to all States, and we were even prepared to renounce all arms, the destruction of which was to be undertaken by the highly armed States within a given period and the further use of which was internationally prohibited."

Sir John Simon had asserted (the Foreign Minister went on) that through these instructions Germany went beyond her previous demands. "Sir John says that in talks with him at Geneva I did not ask for so much and showed a greater desire to meet him halfway. This is not the case."

BADEN EXCAVATIONS REVEAL

Habits And Diet Of Mesolithic Man

Latest developmtnts at the Tiergarten excavations in the Danube Valley near the ruins of Falkenstein Castle have brought to light what are believed to be the most important European finds ever made connected with the cro-magnon race.

At a depth of 14 feet excavators have found a stratum nearly three feet across which throws new light on the habits of man in the Mesolithic Age, about 8000 B.C. Great quantities of carp bones show that fish was his chief diet and some 100,000 remains of snails give evidence of the influence of the Mediterranean climate in the region at the time. Among many flint articles is a polished stone axe of the transitional period from the Mesolithic to the Neolithic Age.

WORLD'S OLDEST FLAGS ON VIEW

The priceless treasure of Halberstadt Cathedral, at present not accessible to the general public, are to be placed in a projected Cathedral Museum here. They include four Grecian flags which are the oldest in the world.

The treasure, brought back in a crusade led by the fiery Bishop of Crosigk in 1205, include a late Romanesque casket ornamented with 200 precious stones and pearls, two mural tapestries of the same period and a gilded Byzantine Communion Plate with reliefs showing Grecian saints. Another rarity of the great interest to collectors is a St. Hedwig glass of the 12th century of which there are now only seven in existence in the world.

"THE WOMAN ACCUSED" AT PATHE

Authors Send Story Packing On 19,800 Miles

Six and a half times across the country, for a distance of 19,800 miles, was the journey taken by the manuscript of "The Woman Accused," the Paramount Liberty all-star story which was written by ten authors, being shown at Pathe Cinema to-day and throughout this week. Nancy Carrol, Cary Grant, and John Halliday are in the leading roles.

The manuscript began its voyage when a brief synopsis of the idea was despatched to Rupert Hughes, in Beverly Hills, California, who wrote the first chapter. When he finished, he sent it on to Vicki Baum, German author, who was in NewYork at the time. She wrote Chapter No. 2, and forwarded it to Zane Grey, in Pasadena for Chapter 3. Then it went, consecutively, to Vina Delmar, in Hollywood; Irvin S. Cobb in Louisville, Ky; Gertrude Atherton, in San Francisco; J.P. McEvoy, in New York City; Ursula Parrott, Long Island N.Y; Polan Hanks, in Hollywood; and Sophie Kerr, in Hollywood.

After Miss Kerr completed the final chapter, she turned the manuscript over to Bayard Veillir, for screen adaptation.

"The Woman Accused" centers around Miss Carrol, who on the eve of her wedding to Cary Grant, is confronted by a former lover, who demands that she return to him, and who when she refuses takes steps to have Grant killed off. In the hysteria of the moment Nancy kills him, and then flees to sea on a "cruise to nowhere" with Grant, Halliday, friend of the slain man, follows and attempts to incriminate her. He is almost successful but a dramatic climax saves her.

20,000 YEARS IN SING SING AT EXCELSIOR

The story of "Twenty Thousand Years in Sing Sing"; a First National picture which comes to the Excelsior Theatre from to day, was hailed by many critics as a sensational human document when it appeared in book form. It is said to have gained in sheer thrilling intensity in its dramatization for the screen as it presents the amazing story of a 1000 men without women and 1000 women who cannot get along without their men.

The original story is by the only man with a wide enough knowledge of criminal character and sympathetic understanding to have conceived and written it, Warden Lewis E. Lawes, of Sing Sing, the man who has been sitting on the lid of a human volcano for many years past at the famous New York state prison.

Paradoxical as it may seem, there are touches of humour, glowing romance and undying love in this story which deals with the pathos and the grim tragedy of life. There are sorrows that bring tears to the eyes, and touches of loyalty that renews the faith in human nature, even when considered misguided.

Spencer Tracy portrays the leading role of a convict who goes to the chair to save his swett heart and to protect the warden who had been kind to him, in what is claimed to be the greatest picture of prison life ever filmed.

There is a strong supporting cast which includes Bette Davis, Arthur Byron, Lyle Talbot, Grant Mitchell, Warren Mymer, Louis Calhern and Sheila Terrry. It was directed by Michael Curtiz.

"LAL-E-YAMAN" AT SUPER-TALKIES

Wadia Movietone's first production "Lal-e-Yaman" which has been drawing large crowds at Super Talkies, Charni Road Junction, for the past five weeks, is to be continued for another week.

It has a gripping story depicting the machinations of a wily queen and step-mother who continues to appropriate the crown for her own little son by getting rid of her step-son, the heir-apparent to the throne. The consequent ruin of the King and the Prince, and their ultimate deliverance by a Fakir, contribute a series of thrills to the story.

Besides its melodious music, the film is characterised by clear photography, distinct sound and gorgeous settings. The high technique introduced by the director, Mr. J. B. H. Wadia, puts this film on a level with other successful Indian talkies.

"HOLD YOUR MAN" AT CAPITOL

Jean Harlow Sings Her First Screen Song

Jean Harlow sings for the first time on the screen in "Hold Your Man," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature co-starring Miss Harlow and Clark Gable.

With the inmates of a women's reform school for an audience, Jean renders the number at a piano in a manner described as "ultra-torchy." It is a new song hit written especially for the picture by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, noted "Broadway Melody" and other popular musical air composers.

The number is heard elsewhere in the picture through orchestrations but is sung by Miss Harlow in the reform school scene to express the ache in her heart for the man whose love put her behind prison bars.

Sam Wood directed the new film, which opens at the Capitol on Saturday, from an original story by Anita Loos.

Included in the cast are Stuart Erwin, Dorothy Burgess, Muriel Kirkland, Garry Owen, Barbara Barondess, Paul Hurst and Elizabeth Patterson.

The picture shows inside views of a reform school, depicting the operating of various classrooms for sewing and cooking. Other scenes are placed in the visiting rooms and chapel, where considerable dramatic action in the story takes place.

"THIS WEEK OF GRACE" AT REGAL

Gracie Fields Shines In Robust Comedy

Gracie Fields has a large number of admirers all over the world. Those who liked her earlier efforts on the screen will go crazy over her latest talkie "This Week of Grace," to be shown at the Regal from Saturday. Gracie exploits her personality to the fulleht extent in this Radio British Super film which should captivate Bombay screen fans.

There are five songs which are sung in a delightful manner by the "Lancashire Comedy Queen." "Happy Ending" should become a popular number after Saturday night.

The story is a satire on snobbery in high places. A factory girl loses her job and gets into conversation with an old lady in the park. The old lad; happens to be a duchess, whose family estate is falling to pieces through mismanagement by relatives. The duchess takes a fancy to the girl and tries the experiment of putting her in charge of her estate, which includes a magnificent castle.

Gracie is suddenly transported from Pennythorn Lane in the slum district to an old world castle on a year's trial. She leaves with her old dad and ma and an idiotic brother. Their adventures in their new surroundings are extremely laughable.

They shock the highbrows at a county dinner party where Gracie is the only one that attracts notice. Gracie and the young nobleman of the estate fall in love and of course find time to make wonderful improvement, and save the family fortunes.

The young nobleman, is rather indiscreet in his conversation about his marriage, which is overheard by Gracie and this upsets the apple cart. She walks out of the wedding breakfast after creating a scene, and the rest of the film is devoted to her reconciliation with her fiance.

Harry Kendall plays the part of the hero. The acting of John Stuart, the librarian is excellent. Frank Pettingell and Douglas Wakefield provide the comedy. The latter is very funny throughout, and his facial expressions defy description.

Gracie Fields was paid £20,000 for acting in this film. Whether she deserves every penny is for you to decide, so make it a point of judging for yourself by going to the Regal.

GLORIA SWANSON AT WELLINGTON

"To-night or Never," a United Artists drama which will be on view this week at the Wellington Talkies, Dhobi Talao, is a brilliant romantic comedy produced with all the dramatic finish which usually characterizes Samuel Goldwyn's productions. In its stage form this was the last hit production of the late David Belasco in New York. Its brilliance is even more striking on the screen.

Miss Swanson is of course, a great beauty and a fine actress in her role of the young opera-singer in Budapest who has to learn about the passion of love before she can learn to sing with all the fire and feeling of a great artist. Her gowns, designed by Chanel, the famous Parisian couturiere, are a delight to the eye, and exactly suited to her. But even more important than that is the unflagging appeal of her versatile acting, shifting from high comedy to great emotional depths without hesitation. Here are the different Gloria Swansons of "The Trespasser" and "Indiscreet" both in the same picture.

Melvyn Douglas, who plays the mysterious young hero, is a new figure on the screen, although his performance in the same role in the New York production of "To-night or Never" has made him famous in the theatrical world. He makes the perfect hero for Miss Swanson's exotic beauty and the love scenes between them are treats for those who believe romance is the essence of moving pictures. This effect is heightened by the romantic atmosphere of Budapest, the Hungarian capital where most of the action takes place. The throb of gypsy music the glamour of moonlit nights on the Danube and the canals of Venice set exactly the right mood for this story of love.

Ferdinand Gottschalk and Alison Skipworth are excellent in minor supporting roles, and the direction, by Mervyn LeRoy who did "Little Caesar" and "Five Star Final," is fast and calculated to bring out every detail of the comedy and the emotion of the story. All of it makes a picture few people can afford to miss, and well up to Samuel Goldwyn's standard.

A scene from the Paramount Picture, "The Woman Accused," showing Nancy Caroll and Cary Grant, commencing at the Pathe to-day.

An Adage Disproved

Sally Rand, Fan Dancer, Comes To Hollywood

The saying that "clothes make the woman" is not entirely accurate.

Take the case of Sally Rand, who was selected as a Wampas baby star a few years ago. Despite her beauty and charm, she was unable to achieve sensational success in the films, and left Hollywood.

For many months nothing was heard of little Miss Rand, and then news came from Chicago that she had appeared at an artists ball as "Lady Godiva," clad only in a long wig. Following her Godiva' impersonation Sally gave a number of 'fan" donces in a show at the Chicago World's Fair, and at theatres in that city. The police objected because the actress made her appearance in the nude, partly shielding her lovely form by deft use of her fans. Sally was fined, but continued her dances.

Now she is back in Hollywood, the recipient of a salary far greater than she ever received previously. Her first appearance will be for Paramount in "A Search for Beauty."

SCREEN TOPICS

ARMED TO THE TEETH.

Kidnapping threats caused Lupe Velez to send her little adopted daughter back to Mexico for safety, and also induced her to adopt precautions to prevent her own seizure by gunmen. Lupe and her chauffeur carry revolvers as does her butler, and they all know how to use their weapons.

* * * *

CLEVER CUTTING.

The surgeon who performed the appendicitis operation of Claudette Colbert was cautioned to make a very small incision.

The reason for this request was that Claudette is scheduled to appear as "Cleopatra" in a forthcoming Cecil B De Mille film, and 'Cleopatra' as we all know wore very few clothes!

* * * *

MERELY NERVES.

Joan Blondell caused considerable excitement when she "walked out" of the Warner studio recently, claiming that she was through with pictures for ever.

The actress declared that she appeared in 39 pictures in 29 months, and was tired out.

The "walk-out" lasted only a few days, and Joan is now back at work. Studio officials agreed to let her make only six pictures every year.

* * * *

A BASHFUL FIGHTER.

Primo Carnera, the giant Italian who is the heavy-weight champion of the world, and Max Baer, conqueror of Max Schmeling, are appearing in the same film at a Culvtr City studio.

Carnera shuns night life, and admits that the film beauties embarrass him.

Baer, on the other hand, is very much at ease in feminine society and usually has a bevy of pretty girls clustered about him at the studio.

AN OBLIGING ACTRESS

A few months ago Mimi Jordan was told by friends that she was too aloof, too dignified, too cold. "Get hot!" they urged.

So Miriam got 'hot.' She bobbed her golden hair, forgot her dignity, dropped the Miriam and became Mimi.

But the new Jordan, and the new name, failed to meet with the approval of friends, relatives and fans. All protested wigorously.

Mimi has changed back to Miriam, and says there will be no more name changing in her young life.

* * * *

A HOLLYWOOD BACHELOR.

Gary Cooper pays ardent court to beautiful film stars, but skilfully eludes matrimony.

However, Hollywood is wondering whether he has a fond spot in his heart for Carole Lombard, divorced wife of William Powell, for the two are seen together quite frequently.

Gary is a very discerning young man, and undoubtedly feels that as the majority of film marriages are of short duration, he is better off as a bachelor than as a temporary husband.

* * * *

A BARRYMORE "HAMLET"

The news that John Barrymore is toying with the idea of atemporary return to the stage to play "Hamlet" is interesting.

It would not be surprising if his appearance in the role in the theatre was followed by a film.

Barrymore's "Hamlet" caused a flutter among the London critics when he did it here a few years ago.

But he may have to hurry if he is not to be beaten to it as a talkie "vehicle."

My Hollywood friends report the presence of a wistful gleam in the eyes of Charlie Chaplin, who is as yet undecided what to do after he has completed his new comedy.

A PEEP INTO THE STARS' DRESSING-ROOMS

By BRIAN YOUNG.

Picture "fans," whose expressed longing is to look into the dressing-rooms of motion picture stars and see their favourites at ease, would be disappointed if their hopes were to be realized. According to one Hollywood reporter who made a "Peeping Tom" tour of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, this is what he saw:

Greta Garbo stretched out on a grey couch, reading the synopsis of a screen manuscript, and munching an ice-cream cone.

Marion Davies surrounded by a group of other players and friends from outside the studio, engrossed in auction bridge.

Jean Harlow playing a gramophone record as she scanned her fan mail and polished her nails.

Norma Shearer sheathed in a shimmering dressing gown, going over current bills, signing cheques and making telephone calls.

Marie Dressler, with a maid on guard at the door, napping.

Clark Gable walking about in his underwear, smoking his pipe and eagerly watching the clock while listening to baseball game broadcasts.

Robert Montgomery, in a crash bathrobe, dictating letters to his secretary, answering 'phone calls and playing solitaire, all at once.

Wallace Beery whittling sticks of wood, whistling and sprawling upon a sofa in complete ease.

And Ramon Novarro at his piano singing Mexican folk songs.

"The Power and the Glory" has been banned by the Censor as a film title. The big Fox picture of that name will, therefore, be screened in Britain as "Power and Glory."

MILITARY HAVALDAR CHARGED WITH ROBBERY

Sequel To Hold Up Which Occurred On Thursday Night When Jews And Anglo-Indian Girl Were Molested

The incident which occurred at the Churchgate promenade on Thursday night when it is alleged three moonlight strollers were held up by a burly intruder had a sequel in the court of the Presidency Magistrate, Third Court, on Friday morning when Sarwarkhan Kamalkhan, a military police havaldar attached to the 3/8 Punjab Regiment was charged with robbery.

The police in applying for the remand of the accused for a week said that at about 8 p.m. three persons Jack Aaron A. S. David and Miss Wythe were taking a stroll on the reclamation ground at Churchgate. They were walking towards the foreshore when they alleged the accused accosted them and said that he was the Chief Inspector of the Section and demanded from the party Rs. 80.

The request was refused whereupon, it was alleged, the accused snatched away the blue serge coat of Jack Aaron and was making off with it when Inspector Lyons and Sergeant Hampton of the C. I. D. happened to pass by in a motor car. The officers were stopped by David and the story of the molestation was related to them. Thereupon the accused was arrested and the coat found in his possession was recovered.

To enable to the police to complete investigations the Magistrate ordered the accused to be remanded till November 10.

NEW MARATHI PLAY

Radio Stars Acquit Themselves Well In "Sada Bandhiwan"

The Radio Stars gave a very creditable show on Thursday night when they put on boards for the first time the popular Marathi dramatist Mr. B. V. Varerkar's "Sada Bandhiwan."

The story deals with Aroo, a faithful wife, who believes that the husband is a woman's master, lory and everything, and that it is her duty meekly to submit to whatever her "man" wishes of her, willingly undergoes every kind of humiliating treatment from her husband, because, according to her, women are born to obey their husbands and not be their equal partners in life. Her brother, Chandu, an ex-convict, is bitterly hated by her husband Vishwanath, and many others also, simply because he is a "jail-bird," while Anoo, sister of Aroo's husband, is determined to sacrifice her all for the sake of her husband.

Then there Renoo who is a modern girl and does not believe in all the old-world theories of meek submission to the whims and caprices of the "master of the house", and asserts that women are meant to be mere chattles of their husbands. In fact, she says she won't get herself married if such a state of domestic affairs were to continue in the society. She is very sympathetic towards Aroo, Chandu and Anoo, and tries to ameliorate their pitiable lot and she herself willingly suffers for their sake.

Aroo's husband plans to give false evidence against her brother, Chandu, that the ex-convict was responsible for forging a cheque. This he does with the object of preventing his own sister, Anoo, who is passionately in love with Chandu, and is determined to marry him, though that may mean her being reduced to beggary from marrying an ex-convict, though Chandu is his own brother-in-law. When Aroo comes to know of these plans, she, who has never revolted against her husband, is terribly agitated in her mind what to do, whether to keep mum and see her brother being subjected to imprisonment on a false pretence, or to tell the truth and save him. At last, she decides to go to the Court and give evidence that she was it that forged the cheque, and, thus, to save her brother from another "pilgrimage" to the jail. She comes to realise that she and her brother have more things in common, the same family, same parents,—nay, the very same blood —than her connections with her husband, though she is wedded to him. When she informs her husband of her resolve, he is extremely surprised at her conduct, which he least expected from such a submissive wife as Aroo. He tries to threaten her, but her determination wins through.

Anoo, Renu, Aroo and Chandu all go out of Vishwanath's house, prepared to suffer the consequences of giving false evidence. But before the trial opens, an old friend of Chandu suddenly turns up, who sacrifices his all to go to the jail for Chandu, and is, in fact, convicted in the end for the alleged offence of forging the cheque—thus preventing a domestic disaster in the family of Vishwanath.

Acting, on the whole, was good, being unaffected, and what was more, unlike in many other cases quite natural. The three ladies who took the parts of Anoo, Renoo and Aroo show a remarkable aptitude for acting. It is praiseworthy that no "powdering" of the faces and body was done, except, probably, in one or two stray cases, (that in the ordinary way, they do outside nowadays) so that there was no unsightly "artificiality" on the stage. Everything went on as if the story was enacted in real life, in their natural surroundings, in their own homes.

The musical parts were good, though it was rather strange that the songs should have been set apart exclusively to one character only, namely Aroo, though she sings nicely.

"I LIVED WITH YOU" AT EMPIRE

"I Lived with You", showing this week at the Empire Theatre, has been highly praised as a picture which is a credit to the British film industry. Ivor Novello is a Russian prince who is taken in to live with a humble suburban family. The prince is a penniless refugee when he goes to them. But he has a watch set with valuable diamonds, a present to his mother from the Czar. He had believed it dishonourable to sell it to help himself, but is sure it is right to do so to help his new friends. The stones bring in such large sums that the prince is able to give each of the family what he thinks will make them happy.

The easy-gotten wealth proves ruinous to the family all the more so when they adopt the Russian's philosophy of life the philosophy that nothing matters except having what you want.

The prince, the cause of all the trouble, is able in the end to straighten some of it out.

Ivor Novello, as the Russian Prince, gives his best performance yet. He is sportaneous with his humour, and brilliant in the more emotional scenes. He is splendidly supported by Minnie Rayner, as the suburban wife and mother; lovely Ursula Jeans, tht shop girl with whom he falls in love; Ido-Lupino, her mannequin sister, Eliot Makeham as the hard-working father; Beryl Harrison and Jack Hawkins.

"77, PARK LANE" AT ROXY

Walter Hackett's play "77, Park Lane," in which the film of that name is based, and which will be screened at Roxy from to-night, is one of the classic successes of recent years in London's West End. It is an all-British production in which Dennis Neilson-Terry and Betty Stockfeld play the part of Lord Brent and Mary Connor respectively.

The story relates how young Lord Brent, parading the streets of London's West End in search of adventure, buys an old taxi in his exuberance and picks up as his first fare a beautiful but harassed looking girl, Mary Connor.

Mary's brother, Philip, has got into difficulties through gambling debts incurred with a rouge named Sheringham. Spotting Sheringham in a night club, Mary determines to chase him, and hails Brent's taxi for the purpose.

To Brent's great surprise they follow Sheringham to Brent's own town house, 77, Park Lane, which he closed up some months previously on going abroad. Brent admits that he is not a real taxi-driver when Mary reveals the nature of her adventure. They follow into the house and find that it is being run during the owner's absence as a gambling den.

The thrilling adventures that follow, consummating in the happy union of Brent and Mary, make the story one of absorbing interest.

"KRISHNA SUDAMA" GOING STRONG AT WEST END

The popularity of Ranjit Movietone's "Krishna Sudama" has been evidenced by the eager throngs of spectators at the West-End Talkies, Lamington Road, for the past three weeks. The increasing daily rush has necessitated a further retention of the film.

Mis Madhuri and Bhagwandas play the leading roles as Lord Shrikrishna and his wife Rukmini with great effect, while in the comedy roles Ghory and Dixit appear to best-advantage. About 20 song-hits are featured in this drama based on the popular episodes of Hindu mythology.

"RAIGARCHI RANI"

Mr. Shankarrao Sarnaik presents a new drama "Raygarchi Rani," to-night at the Bombay Theatre. The drama is a historical piece from the pen of well-known novelist Mr. V. V. Hadap. This is his first drama and the plot deals with the days of Sambhaji, son of Shivaji. Mr. Sarnaik takes the role of Yesubai in the play.

For Lung Troubles

● Colds, Coughs, all Chest Affections

For any weakness of throat or chest, or any tendency to tuberculosis; for a troublesome cough, bronchitis or any chest affection, the standard approved treatment is a course of Angier's Emulsion.

It soothes and strengthens the lungs, promotes appetite, greatly improves digestion, and exerts a pronounced tonic, invigorating influence upon the general health. No mother should be without a bottle of Angier's Emulsion in the house. Remember Angier's is the most palatable of all emulsions, and it agrees perfectly with delicate sensitive stomachs.

Of all Chemists and Bazars in two sizes

"I have prescribed Angier's frequently."

A Doctor writes:—"Some two months ago I had occasion to try Angier's Emulsion personally for a troublesome and worrying cough. In a few days my appetite commenced to return, and in a short time my cough completely disappeared. I still continue taking Angier's and have prescribed it frequently."
(Signed)——, M.B.

Angier's Emulsion contains no animal oil, and in its preparation is untouched by hand. It is therefore acceptable to all castes and religions.

KARNATAK UNIFICATION IS NOT FEASIBLE

Governor Discourages It Because Of Financial Difficulties And Increase In Overhead Charges Of Administration

DHARWAR, Nov. 3.

Replying to the address of the Dharwar Municipality, to-day, His Excellency, the Governor in the course of his speech said:—

I should like also to congratulate you on the public spirit of your citizens and the support that your Council is able to achieve from them as shown by the fact that your figure of taxation per head is higher than any other Municipality in the Southern Division. I note however that, though this reaches the sum of Rs. 5 per head, there are in the Presidency other towns where the rate is considerably higher; in one, for instance, where it amounts to Rs. 6|3, and it might seem doubtful, therefore, whether a convincing case for special treatment by Government can be made out. I fear, in any case at present, I can hold out little hope that any additional assistance can be forthcoming. It is true that our financial position is showing signs of improvement and there is now reasonable ground to hope that our accounts this year may, after very great efforts, indicate a balance on the right side: yet we have, as you can readily understand, still a lot of leeway to make up in providing for repair works and other expenditure that we have been compelled to postpone owing to our financial difficulties, but which are absolutely necessary none the less.

TAP CHEAP MONEY.

I am sorry to note that your Schools are still housed in hired buildings which are not altogether suitable for the purpose. I can well understand that, to provide them all with buildings specially designed for their purpose, would involve a serious strain on your financial resources; but I suppose you must already have considered the possibility and desirability of raising a loan in the open market. With the fall in the rates of interest that we have seen recently this is, of course, a favourable time for doing so, and possibly might provide the required solution of your difficulties.

Another method of improving your financial position which I would recommend to your most serious consideration is a tightening up of your tax recovery policy. I am told that the arrears of taxes are very heavy and in some cases of long standing. More strictness in this direction might perhaps result in a welcome addition to your resources and enable some of the works that you have mentioned as necessary in your address to be carried out.

RHETORICAL.

I am afraid your statement that other sister divisions in the Presidency were given Arts Colleges merely for the asking savours somewhat of the rhetorical! The Gujarat College, the Elphinstone College the Deccan College the Ismail College, and the Royal Institute of Science were all supplied with substantial endowments by public spirited donors, and in addition were either handed over as fully working institutions or completed with the help of substantial donations. I am glad to be able to inform you in this connection, however, that Government hope in the coming year to be able to continue the Science course in the Karnatak College up to the B.Sc. standard.

KARNATAK UNIFICATION.

I am interested to hear what you have to say about the unification of the Karnatak, and can well understand your feelings to this project; but Government have to take a very practical view of such a question, and the proposal, when examined fully discloses among other difficulties the obvious one that multiplication of units in the future Federation must involve a substantial increase in the overhead charges of administration, and as the financial difficulties are among the most important that beset the path of constitutional advance at present, suggestions that add to them have to be deprecated.

And now, Ladies and Gentlemen, I am afraid I must wish you goodbye, as to-day's must necessarily be my last visit to this exceedingly interesting and attractive part of the Presidency.

HARIJAN UPLIFT

Future Of India Depends On It, Says Governor

DHARWAR, Nov. 3.

In the course of his reply to the address of the District Local Board, Dharwar, the Governor, said:—

I am very glad to see that you are taking special interest in improving the facilities available for the Depressed Classes. My Government and I personally have always attached the greatest importance to the solution of the problem presented by the existing condition of these classes. I cannot but think that the political progress of India depends to a great extent on satisfactory progress being made in this direction. I am glad to note that you have appointed a special Sub-Committee to study the problem, and I shall be most interested to hear reports of the progress they are able to effect.

I think you very much for what you have said about the scheme for Village Improvement which I am hoping to see well planted before I leave India. I am very glad to have your assurance that I can count upon your co-operation in the matter. I know well that there is little hope of our being able to effect anything in this direction without the co-operation of the local bodies concerned, and I am therefore very glad to note that in this district, as in so many others, we can rely upon your help.

CARRY MISSION TO RURAL AREAS

Governor Advises Dharwar Scouters

The following are extracts from the Governor's speech at the Scout Rally at Dharwar.

I am very glad to see from the list of names of those from Dharwar District who have taken Scouters' Training that a large number of influential gentlemen have taken the trouble to go to camp for ten days and learn all about scouting. These Scouters are drawn from all ranks, officials of the Judicial Department, Public Works Department, Backward Class, Police, Municipal and District Local Board Service, members of public bodies, practising lawyers and physicians, landed proprietors and Inamdars, Headmasters and Assistant Masters of High Schools, and a large number of teachers from the Primary Schools. I heartily congratulate the successive District Commissioners of this District under whose lead such a number of people have been drawn into the Brotherhood and I hope that other Districts will emulate this step. A good number of these Scouters are actively engaged as Commissioners, Scoutmasters, Office-Bearers of Associations, Instructors and so on. But this is not enough. I would strongly urge that every one of you who has taken this training should give the benefit of it to your younger brothers who stand so much in need of leadership. Every Scout-master who passes out successfully from a Training Camp makes an implied promise that he will take upon himself the responsibility of training a few youngsters to fit them out for responsible citizenship. I take this opportunity of thanking all those who have put this promise into practice, thereby doing a very real bit of service to the country.

There is one question to which I should like to draw attention, and that is the urgency of developing Scouting in the rural areas. The progress of the countryside in India depends to a large extent on the improvement work done in the villages, and in this the rural Scouts, even during the course of their training, could do lasting good to their own villages.

ALLEGED GANGSTERS RELEASED ON BAIL

In the docoity case in which a number of Parsis, Muslims and Wazirs have been arrested by the Nagpada Police in connection with a number of dacoities committed in the city, the police applied for a further remand of the accused before Mr. P. L. Thakker, Presidency Magistrate, Mazagaon on Friday.

The police stated that two of the gang were still in jails outside Bombay and as they wanted time to get them transferred to Bombay Jails they asked for the remand.

The accused objected and the Magistrate ordered all of them to be released on a bail of Rs. 500 with one surety each and a deposit of Rs. 350 in Court till November 17.

HUGE ARMAMENTS MUST BE CUT DOWN

Disarmament Is Possible Only On Basis Of Collective Peace System, Says Arthur Henderson

GENEVA (By Air Mail)

The following is the text of the address broadcast from Geneva on the night of the 15th October by Mr. Henderson, President of the Disarmament Conference:—

The Disarmament Conference resumed its sittings this afternoon in an atmosphere which was decidedly uncertain and tense and under conditions which were severely critical for disarmament and peace.

Delegations assembled with the knowledge that an already grave situation in Europe had recently become more acute and that talk of war had become more general. They were also aware of the fact that Germany had become so dissatisfied with the policy which had been the subject of conversations with regard to the application of the principle of equality of rights that she had withdrawn from the Disarmament Conference.

The withdrawal seemed to me to be premature and unfortunate, because the General Commission had not yet formulated its concrete proposals for giving effect to the principles which the German Government had agreed with the rest of the Conference in accepting. Those principles are that within the lifetime of the first Disarmament Convention there shall be a substantial reduction in armaments and the practical application of the principle of equality in a regime of security.

These disturbing influences are bound to give to the delegations an increased consciousness of responsibility at the moment when they would be expected to make important political and practical decisions. However uncompromising the position may be, Governments can no longer escape from the problems of armaments and international security, for if they do not at once come to grips with it the danger point may soon be reached. The choice before us is co-operation or conflict; peace or war; progressive disarmament by world action or a mad race to increase both defensive and offensive weapons; peaceful development or a collapsee into barbarism with an experience of the horrors and the savagery of modern war. That choice must be made now.

ORGANISED PEACE.

In these circumstances it is not sufficient to think of world peace in the abstract. Our objective must be to secure a peace which is constructively organised. To attain this objective those of us who passionately desire to see the peace of the world permanently established must make every effort to develop a new and wider corporate spirit. We must seek to develop a world peace loyalty and support the methods by which such a loyalty can be given practical effect.

In this connection it is vital that the Disarmament Conference should produce a genuine convention. And though Germany has withdrawn from the Conference, I hope, after a few days' adjournment to allow the delegations to consult their Governments on the course of work to be followed that we shall make a serious effort to complete our task

I am profoundly convinced that upon an international agreement on this issue of world armaments every other question and decision in the field of foreign affairs must turn for years to come. There are still those among us who are ready to declare that a warless world despite the peace-keeping machinery of the League of Nations is very remote, if not altogether impossible. Recently an ex-Cabinet Minister of my own country treated with scorn suggestion that disarmament would bring peace to Europe. He denied that the accumulation of armaments produced war, and he contended that nothing had ever been gained except by force. Such teaching is dangerous and only goes to show how imperative it is that everything should be done to encourage nations to place reliance not on military force but on the rule of law and justice in international affairs.

If Government's move slowly and display signs of hesitation in this matter of disarmament it must be remembered that in most countries their peoples have lived under the militarist mentality so long that they continue to think of their security, their safeguards, and guarantees only in militarist terms. The promtoion of disarmament by world action is obviously not in such circumstances a simple or an easy thing to carry through. It is, on the contrary, a slow and complex prcess that must advance by stages.

DISARMAMENT ESSENTIAL

The voluntary assent of a large number of separate Governments must be obtained. Their views, ideas, interests, and geographical positions may very considerably, and in some cases they actually conflict. And yet, in order to secure an international agreement, they must be induced to trust one another and be prepared to work together, if international relations are to be successfully based on better and surer foundations. In this connection disarmament is not only a question of vital importance, but it is the acid test of the peaceful intentions of nations, and must be included among the essentials of a durable peace. A general convention with effective provisions for securing its loyal observance would represent a new conception in international relations. Under it the arms of any nation, would be no longer its own exclusive concern. They would be subject to control by the Permanent Disarmament Commission and form part of the collective responsibility for the maintenance of peace. Disarmament is possible only on the basis of the collective peace system. The Covenant provides for disarmament, and it is implicit in the Kellogg Pact. Covenant and Pact alike will become real if the present huge armaments remain, and unless they are cut down soon they will begin to grow.

A new race in armaments would first dislocate and then destroy the world's collective peace system. In the end it would plunge into a world war even more terrible than the last. Our primary duty is therefore to uphold the Covenant and the Paris Pact against any and every challenge. They are the world's peace charter or world's peace constitution. We must protect that constitution from disintegration. We canont let world law and order be undermined by international anarchists on whatever pretext they propose to flout the law. Through world co-operation based on upholding the Covenant and the Paris Pact we can and in the end will, achieve disarmament and make peace secure. But if we suffer treaties to become scraps of paper we shall get not disarmament but another war.

A grave and terrible responsibility thereore rests on all of us to see that the collective peace system of which the League is the basis is not destroyed. The League system and the spirit upon which it has been founded lie at the very root of all that makes human life and human efforts worthwhile, and upon their maintenance depends the destiny of future generations of mankind.

EVERY VIEWPOINT OF MOTOR CAR VALUE LEADS TO HUPMOBILE

Not all motor car buyers make their choice from the same chief considerations.

Some want, first of all, the luxury of smart styling. Seven times, in recent European style competitions, first awards have come to Hupmobile.

Others want power and potential high speed ability, or commanding size, or economy in fuel, oil and repairs. Price, of course, plays an important part.

Inevitably, every viewpoint of motor car choice leads to Hupmobile. The more careful the buyer, the more surely is this true. Hupmobile has taken its rightful place as the car of the careful investor.

Do not fail to see the Hupmobile now. Ride in it. Judge it by every consideration you think important. You will find that HUPMOBILE actually means more car for your money.

Southern Selling And Trade Buying

OPERATORS AWAIT NEXT BUREAU REPORT

Fears Of Currency Inflation Or Price Fixing

NARROW TRADING MARKET

Bombay, Nov. 3.

On Thursday New York cotton prices fluctuated within a narrow range of 7 points. The market was nervous and irregular awaiting next Government Bureau. report unsettling factors being Southern selling and trade buying. The Bureau report is likely to be bearish accompanied by a large ginning figure. In normal conditions such a report will have market effect on prices but owing to the present Government monetary policy, operators are afraid to go short.

As pointed out before the market is mainly guided by political developments. Recent announcement to raise prices by purchases of Gold has failed to induce professional operators to buy cotton and now it is feared that the Government will either fix commodity prices are launch programme of currency inflation. It is believed that these artificial measures will have better effect in American markets but outside of will have very little effect.

NEW YORK MARKET.

The New York cotton futures market opened at a rise of 3 points and a further rise of one point market the highest level for the day There was scattered Southern hedge selling which resulted in a decline of 7 points from the highest level. Later on there was some price fixing by trade which rallied prices and the market closed at a net rise of one to four points. Spot cotton prices remained unchanged at 9.75c.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET

The New Orleans cotton futures market ruled steady and closed at a rise of 5 to 3 points. Spot cotton prices advanced three points at 9.48c.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

The Liverpool cotton futures market opened at a rise of one to two points There was increased hedge selling but the demand for contracts by local houses, trade and also by speculative buying steadied prices. Steadier Sakles assisted the market. In the afternoon the market failed to broaden and trading was mostly professional. There was little straddle selling and the market closed at a net decline of 5 to 3 points Middling American Spot cotton prices declined 2 points at 5.46d. per lb.

East Indian cotton futures declined four points while Egyptian cotton futures closed 2 to 4 points lower.

ALEXANDRIA COTTON

The Alexandria cotton futures market was quiet but steady and closed at a decline of three points to a rise of 2 points.

FRIENDLY FEELING

The New York correspondent of the "Manchester Guardian Commercial" wires on Oct. 11 as under:—

The improvement was only partially maintained, however, owing to the slow demand for grey goods, the disappointing action of the outside markets, the failure of generral business to show the expected improvement, the continued spread of labour disturbances, and the dwindling prospects of monetary inflation. Nevertheless, the feeling is distinctly more friendly to cotton on account of the upward trend of world consumption of American cotton, the rapid expansion of the holding movement, the scarcity of offerings of actual marked suffering of basis for medium to higher grades of 7/8in. to 1in. staple, and the belief that the crop movement is rapidly nearing its peak, with prospects of an early gradual reduction in hedge pressure.

The operation of the Government's loan plan has been delayed by the necessity of securing pledges from growers to co-operate in restricting planted area next year to 25,000,000 acres, but it is believed that these will be forthcoming in the near future, thus paving the way for advances to growers substantially in excess of current prices.

This view is largely responsible for the firm attitude of growers and the indisposition of speculators to engage in operations for the decline. Leading spot houses think it would be dangerous to go short either in futures or in basis.

HIGHER GOLD PRICES

Messrs. Thos Smith and Co. state:—

"The market was quiet with small fluctuations; operators are awaiting political developments from Washington and also the next Bureau Report which will be published on the 8th instant.

Other American markets were steady on the higher gold price and advances were recorded in wheat and sugar, whilst silver was again strong on reports that the U.S.A. Treasury will shortly issue 11 million dollars of silver certificates backed by silver received from last June's war-debt payments.

PRIVATE CABLES—

New York January highest 9.65 plus 04 (10-33 a.m.) Lowest 9.58—03 (11-21 a.m.)

Liverpool January highest 5.23 (opening) Lowest 5.21 (3-57 p.m.)

Messrs. Patel Brothers have received the following cable advice:

Buying of cotton, sugar and coffee on higher gold prices was a notable feature in to-day's American market operations but activity was again restricted by Washington continuing to be the pivot of interest, indeed, on rumour persistently averred that important developments were imminent in the capital.

Cotton traders are now beginning to think of the Bureau Report which is due on next Wednesday. Values gained a few points.

Chicago market was cheered by reports that almost a million bushel of Government wheat held at the Pacific Coast have been sold fo export to the Orientand prices 2 cents per bushel.

There were few buyers on the Stock Exchange but the undertone was distinctly firmer and the market closed slightly higher.

Enthusiasm of Wall Street and silver protagonists was aroused by advices that the Treasury will soon issue some 11,000,000 dollars of silver certificates backed by silver received from last June's war debt payments.

Meanwhile as regards the mysterious gold question American banking circles are sceptical of the reported currency agreement between the United States and Great Britain. It is pointed out that the basis of British and French monetary policies is to keep the pound and franc down in relation to dollar. On the other hand Washington's object in buying gold abroad is to further lower the value of dollar and consequently raise the price levels of domestic commodities.—Reuter.

Messrs. Chunilal Mehta and Co. have received to-day the following cable information from their foreign friends:—

Liverpool: Majority opinion here considers Roosevelt's efforts to raise Dollar prices by exchange depreciation likely to prove inefficacious and next step probably be price fixing or currency inflation.

Liverpool: New York cables, Government issu-ing eleven million Dollars silver certificate against token debt payment.

New York: Ginnings expected heavy. The basis is firmer. Market acts tired with little speculative or trade interest. Agricultural Department report is expected to be bearish at 13 1/4 millions. Irregular market in prospect until report. Are friendly to cotton in view of Government monetary position. Look forward to better prices later in the season.

New York: Rather quiet market. Fixations absorbing small hedges.

Messrs. Sarupchand Prithiraj have received the ollowing cables:

New York: Market not responding (to) strength (in) Gold (and) silver: good undertone: trading narrow.

New York: Southern selling offset by price fixing; December Long liquidation forms a source of pressure against the market; have a favourable opinion of the market but do not look for extreme advance.

BOMBAY COTTON

Bombay, Nov. 3.

In sympathy with unchanged advices from New York the local market opened at Rs. 189/4 and improved to Rs. 189/10 on scattered buying. At this level there was some liquidation which depressed prices to Rs. 189/2. There was very restricted business and until next Bureau report there will be no marked change in prices. Fears of a baarish report may induce some liquidation.

Liverpool Market opened steady at a rise of 2 points, but later advices were easy. There was increased selling in the Local Market, which closed at 5-30 p.m. as under:—

BOMBAY STOCK EXCHANGE

Government Securities Steady

SCATTERED BUSINESS IN SHARES

Bombay, Nov 3

There was no important development on the to Stock Exchange. Some big operators were covering short sales in Government securities are now taking a long position on rumours of new sterling loan. 3½ per cent paper advanced to Rs. 82/12. In shares there was only scattered business and prices show no important change.

In the meantime some unfounded rumours are current regarding tejimandi business in Bombay Dyeing shares. It is said that a certain operator had bought options and right of purchase is exercised on about 2,000 shares for Moorat business. At this settlement the buyer is willing to transfer purchases to the next settlement at par against Rs. 3/12 allowed by the Board. It is feared that at the next settlement delivery will be demanded. The Board being well aware of the present situation will not fail to take drastic steps against tejimandi business. It is also said that there is not much truth in the rumour.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEWS

(From Our Special Correspondent)
Bombay, Nov. 3.

MONEY

Very easy conditions prevailed in the money market this week and call funds were almost unlendable at about 1/2 to 1 percent. The latest statement of the Imperial Bank shows a large increase of Rs. 158.80 lacs in Other deposits and repayment of loans and Cash credits by the market to the extent of about Rs. 115.64 lacs. Furthermore Government have repaid Rs. 50 lacs, thus reducing their borrowings for Ways and Means to Rs. 6½ crores. Treasury Bill renewals amounted to Rs. 182 lacs including Rs. 32 lacs of intermediates at the average rate of Rs. 1.9.10 per annum. The trade demand as per the Bank's statement shows a decrease of Rs. 267.24 lacs. The following are the fixed deposit rates:—One to two months 1½ percent. and three months 1½ percent.

IMPERIAL BANK

The statement of the Imperial Bank as on October 27, 1933 shows a large increase of Rs. 440.67 lacs in the cash balance of the bank now standing at Rs. 241537000 as compared with 27.01 crores at this time last year. The percentage of cash to liabilities is 27.86, an increase of 4.54 percent over last week. While Loans and Cash credits are down by Rs. 63.57 lacs and by Rs. 52.07 lacs respectively. Inland bills discounted show a small increase of Rs. 5.47 lacs. The item of Government securities shows a fall of Rs. 74.30 lacs to Rs. 44.30 crores as against Rs. 27.46 crores this time last year. Government deposits have risen by Rs. 42.60 lacs to Rs. 7.22 crores and Other deposits by Rs. 158.80 lacs to Rs. 78.27 crores. The bank rate continues at 3½ percent.

GILT-EDGED MARKET

Gilt-edged after a weak opening firmed up in mid-week on investment buying and support by bull operators. Heavy sales by Calcutta were easily absorbed by this market and the undertone remains firm. 3½ percent Paper after opening at Rs. 82.12 declined to as low as Rs. 81-13, but firmed up and closed at Rs. 82-6. 3½ percent Loan due 1947-50 declined from Rs. 93-1 to Rs. 92-5. 4 percent 1960-70 loan after touching the low level of Rs. 97-15 closed almost at the opening level of Rs. 98-2. 1934-37 loan eased off to Rs. 101-2 and 1943s to Rs. 101-6. 4½ percent 1955-60 loan lost about 4 annas to Rs. 105 and 1934 bonds by about 2 annas to Rs. 101-6. 5 percent loan due 1939-44 declined from Rs. 106-3 to Rs. 105-10, and 1940-43s from Rs. 106-1 to Rs. 105-9, while 1945-55 were almost unchanged at Rs. 113-14. 5½ percent 1938-40 loan closed at Rs. 107-4. 6½ percent Bombay Dev. Loan eased off to Rs. 107-2, while 6½ percent Treasury Bonds kept steady at Rs. 106-12.

EXCHANGE.

Sterling exchange was quietly steady throughout the week with sellers of ready T.T. at 1/5 31/32 and buyers at 1s. 6d The same rate was obtained for delivery November/December/January. A fair amount of covering was done for November against re-sales of gold, but towards the close the market again assumed a steady tone. Merchandise export bills continued restricted while the enquiry for remittances was also small.

The dollar sterling quotation declined at the opening from dolls. 4.73 to dolls. 4.70, but improved steadily to dols. 4.84½ at the close. The London-Paris cross rate after an initial improvement from 84.43 to 81.00 declined persistently to 79.31 at the end. The Belga finished at 22.27 and the Italian lira at 59.06.

GOLD.

Fluctuations in the gold market were of a sea-saw nature, but the trend of prices was higher. This market was influenced by the fluctuations in the London-Paris cross rate and various reports from the U.S.A. to the effect that America will buy foreign gold at competitive rates. The quotation for ready improved at the opening from Rs. 32-9 to Rs. 33/0/6, but after declining to Rs. 32/12 in mid-week rose yesterday to Rs. 33/1/6 and closed at Rs. 33/1/0. Arrivals from upcountry are still on a restricted scale. The quotation for sovereigns improved at the end from Rs. 20/9/6 to Rs. 20/14/3 for ready and from Rs. 20/9/9 to Rs. 20-14-6 for forward. In London the price of gold improved from 129s. 8d. to 133s. 3d. Last week's shipment of gold amounted to Rs. 57.73 lacs per s.s. "Rajputana" and Rs. 38 lacs per s.s. "Britannia." The daily offtake is unchanged at about 2000/3000 tolas and stocks approximate 5 lacs tolas. The highest and lowest rates in our market were Rs. 33-1-9 and Rs. 32-9-0 for ready, Rs. 33/2/0 and Rs. 32/9/3 for November 3 settlement and Rs. 33/2/6 and Rs. 32/9/9 for December 2 settlement. The total imports during the week amounted to Rs. 83,549 in bar and coin.

SILVER.

A steady tone prevailed on the whole in silver, though in midweek there was a slight reaction. Ready after opening at 56-5 improved to Rs. 56/10, but after receding to Rs. 56.8 rose sharply to Rs. 56.14 towards the close and finished at Rs. 56/12. Advices from Shanghai and the rise of the price in London account for the strength. The volume of business was however limited, the daily offtake showing no better than 20/25 bars, while stocks on hand are estimated at the large figure of 9000 bars. In Shanghai the dollar improved from 1/3-3/8 to 1/3-11/16d. In London the highest and lowest rates were 18-3/16d. and 18-1/16d. for ready and 18-5/8d. and 18-3/16d. for forward. In our market the highest and lowest rates were 56-14 and Rs. 56-5 for ready, Rs. 56/15 and Rs. 56/7 for November 7 settlement and Rs. 57/1 and Rs. 56/10 for December 7 settlement. The total imports during the week amounted to Rs. 142,922 in coin.

SHARES.

The share market remains closed to dealings for forward delivery. Shares that are dealt in for cash delivery were steady with some investment enquiry. The following are the closing quotations:—Luxmi Cotton Rs. 780; New Great Rs. 145; Tata 2nd Pref. Rs. 99/12; Tata Power Pref. 1272/8xd.; Bom. Burma N. I. Rs. 123/12; Scindia Steam Rs. 9.

Among bank shares Imperial Banks are quoted at Rs. 1225 for fully paid and at Rs. 301/14 for Contributories. Bank of India shares kept steady at Rs. 102 and those of the Central Bank at Rs. 23/4.

THE SLEEPLESS ARMY

MILLIONS of people are walking the streets because they cannot sleep—thousands of others go to bed and seek in vain for sleep's restful and revitalising power. The rush of modern conditions—financial worries—artificial environment—noise—real or fancied troubles—they are the main contributors to the cause of insomnia or sleeplessness. For these sufferers 'ASPRO' is the influence that they need--for sweet, peaceful and restful sleep comes by the simple action of taking two or three 'ASPRO' tablets.

YOU WILL JOIN THE PAINLESS ARMY TOO

RHEUMATIC PROOF FROM W. KRUGERSDORP

Dear Sirs, West Krugersdorp.
I should like you to know of the great benefit I have received from taking 'ASPRO' tablets. I am quite prepared to recommend same to any sufferer for any pain or rheumatism.
Yours faithfully, (Signed) C. HIRBST.

JOHANNESBURG RESIDENT PRAISES 'ASPRO'

Dear Sirs, 129 Kerk Street, Johannesburg.
I feel I must write to tell you what I think about 'ASPRO'. For the last year I have suffered with headache and nerve shock. I was recommended by a friend to take 'ASPRO' Tablets and have had great relief in taking them.
I will never be without them.
You can use this letter to show others what a great benefit ASPRO' did for me. Yours faithfully, (Signed) I. GROBLER (Mrs.)

'EXCELLENT IDEA' SAYS DOCTOR

Dear Sirs,
My children are subject to Bronchitis, and as soon as they are attacked we give them an 'ASPRO' and it immediately tests with the rising fever. A Doctor here, when the wife told him she always gives 'ASPRO' to the children, said: "A most excellent idea." Neighbours here often send round and ask the wife if she has one or two spare, and we have assured many that they do not affect children's hearts, let alone adults.
I am, Sir, Yours faithfully, (Signed) A. E. WARBEY.

THANKS TO 'ASPRO' FROM CAPE TOWN

11 Burham Road,
Observatory, Cape Town.
Gents,
I have had fever bad and influenza, and have never had to go to bed less than 6 days; but to get up after two days feeling fit and eat my usual breakfast. I can only put it down to 'ASPRO'. Last Wednesday went fishing Simon Town Bay, came over wretchedly cold, after arriving home felt stuffy, took a dose of Cough Mixture, next day at 11 a.m. came over in a terrible sweat and chill, jumped into bed, hot-water bottle, heaps of blankets, in the afternoon my son asked me to try 'ASPRO', a new preparation he said, took two, at 10 p.m. took 2 more, had a glorious sleep, only woke up once, next morning took two more, felt much better, fever gone, later took 2 more, 8 in all, had a big sweat, rah down, woke up Saturday morning fit and well, had my usual breakfast, was able to dress and go to a wedding, and reception in the evening, I feel thoroughly well, and have had no relapse, I can only put it down to 'ASPRO'.
Yours truly,
(Signed) A. J. F.

PATHAN FOREMAN KILLED

A verdict of accidental death was returned by the Coroner's Jury on Friday at the inquest held over the body of Hurbadsha Mirbadsha, a pathan, aged 40.

From the evidence recorded it appears that the deceased worked as a foreman of the Dock workers. On the night of November 1, he was supervising the work of removing springs of a Railway carriage by a crane from s.s. "Lindenfels," docked in No. 11 of Alexandra Docks. He was standing on the left side of the Wharf at about 10-45 when the crane was lifting an empty tray by means of a dorrick and the tray was slowly being pushed to the left.

A warning was given by another foreman about the removal of the tray and the foreman also asked everyone one to clear out of the way. The Pathan foreman did not move from his place and was struck by the tray. The Pathan fell into a hold, fifty foot deep. He was immediately removed to the G. T. Hospital where he died of internal heamorrhage.

How A Woman May Retain Her Youth

"The woman who wants to look young must taboo massage creams and liquid rouge. She will only harden the structure of her face and destroy the fine texture of the skin," said Mrs. Margaret Holmes Bates, the well-known author.

"Reputable physicians have declared that if she indulges in artificial methods she risks losing her health," she continued. A perfectly natural method of treating a bad complexion is by using ordinary mercolized wax, as this adds nothing to the complexion, but takes from it instead. This wax, obtainable at any chemist's, flakes off the sallow or blotchy outer skin in fine particles, gently, without harming the skin beneath, which gradually makes its appearance. The brilliantly beautiful complexion thus obtained is a new one—quite different from a patched-up old complexion. This is one way to retain youthful looks.

MORE PLATITUDES FROM RT. HON. SASTRI

Says Enemies Of Freedom Are Now Seated In Power, But Hopes British Liberals And Labour Will Come To India's Rescue

Taking advantage of the presence of the Rt. Hon. V. S. Srinivasa Sastri in the State in connection with the concluding session of the Cochin Teachers' Conference at Nemmara, the Chairman and councillors of the Chittoor-Tatta-mangalam Municipality presented him with an address of welcome on Oct. 29.

In the course of his reply, Mr. Sastri, referring to the hope expressed in the address that within a few years' time they would see the advent in this country of a Dominion constitution, he remembered how abundant were their hopes in that direction some time ago. But more or less, a landslide had now taken place in British politics and those who he could not help describing as the enemies of freedom, were now seated in the positions of power. They seemed to have an almost indisputable voice at the present moment in the disposition of affairs and he was afraid that their hopes had been dashed to the ground and India had another period of struggle and tribulation to pass through before she could get what for a long time she had yearned for. Yes, their fortunes were now at an end. It was no use flattering themselves that within a generation they would reach that position of honourable partnership to which they believed that they were entitled. Anyhow, he did not hope that within a few years that still remained to him on earth to see that great end. Somehow he hoped well before their time expired to see this great future coming to their motherland.

There was no harm considering how, although checked and foiled now and then, the people everywhere had won their way to freedom. That was judging only by past history. There was no reason why young people might not indulge the wish that they should be in India like the people of the Dominions were in their own places. But they could not forget all that the fortunes of peoples seemed somehow or other to be receiving nasty blows. For example take Germany, Italy or other countries of Europe. Popular freedom was being pushed back and in the name of efficiency and solidarity individuals were seizing political power and using it in ways that lovers of popular freedom as they were could not but view with abhorrence.

SIGN OF GOOD TIMES.

He once said and was blamed for saying it, that it was only in Great Britain that freedom still survived, freedom as they understood it in this country. There it seemed to be rooted in the soil. It seemed to him that what they regarded as the political freedom of the British people was likely to remain unassailed. He thought it was a sign of good times that their fortunes seemed to be linked for the moment with the British Empire where still the sun of liberty, he hoped, shone. It might be, that upon their unfortunate country, it was the clouds of tyranny, and autocracy that floated in the Heavens but it would not be long, so long as the ideals of British Empire remained, as they were, it was highly probable that the practice also would sooner or later conform to them. That was their main-stay. He could not, being an Indian, foresee what would happen in British politics, how long it would be before once again the friends of freedom all over the world got hold of the polity of Great Britain. It might be five years, it might be ten years. But he had this conviction in his heart unlike many of his fellow-countrymen, who were also engaged in public affairs, and he believed in the general good intentions of the Labour and Liberal Parties in Great Britain.

When once more, the swing of affairs brought them to the top they would ally themselves not with the Princes and notables of India but with the real people of the land, that is, those that were working upon the soil, the agriculturists and the small industrialists living away in the villages numbering 85 per cent. of their population and the educated representatives behind whom they had always stood in their political struggle. Their day was coming, although the dawn was not yet visible and it was that hope that he would give them, in answer to the paragraph where they spoke of their being it the present moment "unredeemed blots of the Empire."

They referred also to the condition of their countrymen in other parts of the Empire. He had spoken, he believed, on the ideals of the Empire and he had said that the practice before long would conform to those ideals.

Talking of Indians in other parts of the Empire, he stated that they like other coloured people felt themselves to be the victims of persecution under domineering conditions. In South Africa one lakhs and seventy thousand of their countrymen were undergoing the acutest distress under the conditions prevailing there. While he (speaker) was in that country things looked brighter. A bad turn had since taken place. At present the Tamilians and the Gujeratis were crying for more help and in all directions there seemed to be a hopeless position for the moment. And India could render no assistance to these sufferers. It was not a cheerful story though he wished it were in his power to cheer up their hearts. He, however, hoped that at no distant date, those conditions would improve.

For this purpose the Committee will charge Rs. 1/ for every square foot of space required by the manufacturer.

A commission of 6¼ per cent will be charged on sale proceeds.

The agricultural and industrial departments of the various Provincial and States5 Governments and other experts have been approached to put up their exhibits and to give demonstrations. Full support has been secured for the Exhibition in the Bellary District from all quarters including the local bodies and other institutions. During that period there will be a Flower Show and the Health and Baby Week, and other important Conferences and functions.

For details the manufacturers are requested to correspond with the Secretaries.

WARNING

FOR THE RELIEF OF SUFFERING HUMANITY.

RE: LAXATIVES

Overt attempts are being made by interested people to mislead the Public on false promises and pretences to run down "CAS-PHEN-MINT" — the happiest and the most scientifically proportioned tablets of "Castor Oil", "Agar-Agar", "Phenolphthalein" and "Peppermint".

The statements of such selfish people almost amount to a direct insult to the common-sense of an intelligent Public.

The motives behind such a mischievous propaganda are transparent because—

(1) "CAS-PHEN-MINT" has published on every package its detailed formula which can be vouched as safe by any Medical man a thing which drastic laxatives could not do!

(2) "CAS-PHEN-MINT" has not indulged in 'extravagant' advertising to demand the need of an excessive price.

(3) "CAS-PHEN-MINT" despite its outstanding features is selling only at "12 annas for 40 mints"—a price that beats hollow all those laxatives of similar "pretensions" but not half as good'.

(4) "CAS-PHEN-MINT" has never claimed any more than what is true. Above all, it has NOT misled the public into believing that it is an Indian manufactured product.

(5) "CAS-PHEN-MINT" has come to stay as a cheaper and better substitute for the vile-tasting Castor Oil. It is 'not' however made up entirely of Castor Oil! Beware of those who mislead you that their tablets are made of castor oil alone.

The public are requested to give "CAS-PHEN-MINT" 'just one trial' to be convinced of its supreme quality at a surprisingly modest price. That is just the standard by which to judge every product issued by—

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Feeling Great

If you wake up in the morning feeling sour and depressed, entirely lacking in vim and vigour, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral waters, oil or harsh purgatives and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

They can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The real reason for your run down feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Your stomach is filled with gas. You have a sick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "tip top". They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts especially effective when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Always look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the Red Package Label.

Heavy Deficit This Year?

To Make Up For Three Crores Loss In Customs Revenue, Schuster Must Provide For Further Retrenchment In His Budget

(Frm Our Special Correspondent.)

NEW DELHI, Nov. 3.

That on the first of March next Sir G. Schuster will present a doleful tale of finance is now becoming increasingly clear.

I understand, that in the customs alone, the fall in revenue up to the end of Sptember has been three crores which means that, he has lost three crores in six months.

No special reason can be ascribed to this state of affairs, because fall in the customs revenue is not under asy particular head or heads, but is of an all round character.

LAW OF DIMINISHING RETURNS.

It is said that the entire trade of the country has been affected and that what Sir G. Schuster is now beginning to face is what his critics had warned him namely the Law of Diminishing Returns. Compared to ten years ago the country is taxed 20 per cent more. whereas trade is so depressed and the economic capacity of the people is so low compared to the post-war boom period.

HEAVY DEFICIT.

It is clear therefore, that a deficit in the current year will be a heavy one and will have to be met out of borrowing.

Sir George Schuster cannot in thtse circumstances present a very hopeful budget for the next year.

It is feared that this sad financial plight of the Central Government will give added weight to the diehard argument that financial bankruptcy would face central Government under the new constitution.

REDUCE MILITARY BILL.

The Indian view has always been that the Government must reduce its heavy military expenditure and reduce its service Bill. Members of the Assembly tell me that the recent revised scales of pay still err on the side of liberality and that India cannot afford to pay her Public Services whether British or Indian at those rates.

However whatever be the view taken on this subject there is no doubt that on the financial ground further retrenchment is going to be considered seriously by Sir George Schusttr before he presents his last budget to the Assembly.

INDO-JAPANESE TRADE TALKS

Prospects Of Settlement Not Very Bright

NEW DELHI, Nov. 3.

His Excellency Sawada was well this morning but had a slight temperature at noon. His doctor expects that he will be better in the afternoon and be ready to participate in the negotiations by Monday.

The instructions that the Japanese delegates have been expecting from Tokio have not yet arrived. Immediately on their receipts they will be communicated to the Government of India.

The delay is to-day explained as due to the necessity for the Japanese Govt. to weigh every factor and attempt to reconcile every opinion before giving a reply to the Government of India's proposals. Japanese delegates declare that though the difficulties caused by Osaka's opposition have been very great, these should now be overcome as a result of prolonged negotiations between the Japanese Government and the Spinners Association.

If His Excellency Sawada does not get well by Monday, some delay may be caused in the resumption of the negotiations, but both sides are anxious to come to grips with the problem and settle it before 10th November.

Unofficial observers. however. think that the pospect of a settlement being reached by that date is not very bright.—A. P.

QUIT ORDER FOR STRIKERS

200 Badnera Mill Workers Threatened And Later Thrown In Streets

FRESH STRIKE SEQUEL

Demand for 15 Days' Notice Turned Down by Managing Agent.

(From Our Correspondent.)

AMRAOTI, Nov. 2.

After the terms of compromise were broken by the Mil Authorities, as stated by the labour leaders, about 600 workers have again gone on strike in sympathy with the workers who were victimized. Inspite of all efforts by Government officers to induce Sir Manekji Dadabhoy, the Managing Agent of the Mills, who has come to Badnera personally, to come to some settlement with the workers there appears to be no chance of his acceding to the above request.

ORDERED TO VACATE.

On the other hand the Mill authorities are already taking measures against the workers.

About 200 strikers who are residing in the Millowners' Chauls, have to-day been ordered to vacate the rooms by Sir Manekji personally under threat of police "Dandas." The workers demanded 15 days' time, which they are entitled to under law and which is necessary for them to find out new houses. But this request has bee rudely turned down and some of the workers with their families are actually thrown out on the streets.

STRIKERS PEACEFUL.

Mr. P. Y. Despande, President of the Badnera Textile Labour Union and his colleagues are making best efforts to render help to the destitute strikers in the form of grain, corn and other necessaries. The strikers are peaceful inspite of great provocation.

UNITE AND FIGHT GOVT.

Sidhva Deplores Divisions And Pleads For United Action

KARACHI, Nov. 3.

"The immediate necessity at the present juncture is the attainment of unity among all classes. If Muslims can make a pact with Britain, if millowners can make a pact with Japan and Lancashire, if Bhai Permanand can think of making a pact with Britain in retaliation to the Muslim Pact, it is a disgrace to our honour if Indians of various parties and communities cannot arrive at a pact amongst themselves," observes Mr. R.K. Sidhva in a statement to the Press.

He adds: "In a country like India, cent per cent. unanimity is an impossible proposition. But if we could achieve unity of the kind as was obtained in 1920-21, our purpose would have been amply served.

"If after exploring all the avenues for unity, no satisfactory result is achieved, the only course left open for all is to accept the Communal Award until such time we could succeed in improving it, and give battle unitedly on the political issue to the Government."

GOLD FLIGHT FROM FRENCH BANKS

Capital Scared Away By Budgetary Crisis?

(Special Cable.)

PARIS, Nov. 2.

Over 7,50,00,000 francs worth of gold were withdrawn from the Bank of France for the week-ending 27th October.

This is attributed to the political crisis and the country's budgetary crisis which has scared away capital, but has nothing to do with Mr. Roosevelt's Gold Policy.

"It is a plausible hypothesis" was the sole comment vouchsafed by a high bank official with regard to the report that America is buying gold from the Bank of France to-day. The impression has been gained, however, that there has been buying, though the extent cannot ascertained.

GOLD PURCHASE PLAN

Amounts & Prices Will Be Kept Secret

(SPECIAL ACABLE.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.

It is announced that foreign gold will be purchased here and abroad. The amounts bought and the prices paid will be held secret, though the aggregate dealings will be announced periodically. Foreign purchases will probably be made through foreign branches of the Federal Reserve member banks, payment being made by the Federal Reserve Bank in Reconstruction Finance Corporation notes.

The New York Federal Reserve Bank is entrusted with all details of foreign purchases. It is also announced that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation upto last night purchased 66,000 ounces of the New United States gold costing 21,00,000 dollars.

INDIAN SILVER USED.

It is stated that the Treasury will shortly issue 11 million dollars' worth of silver certificates backed by silver received as war debts payment for the instalment due last June received at the rate of 50 cents per ounce. This is in accordance with the Thomas amendment to the Farm Relief Bill which requires that silver received for war debt payments should be so used.

The process of assaying the metal has just been completed. The next is engraving certificates. denominations of which have not yet been announced.

Officials deny that the silver issued is regarded as as a measure of inflation, as certificates would be used in the normal course of business to replace other forms of currency sent to the Treasury for redemption.

ROUND WORLD ON PUSH-BICYCLE

East African Indian Out To Cover 62,000 Miles In 7 Years

QUETTA, (By Mail.)

Mr. A. N. Allibhoy Lamuwala, Indian world cyclist of East Africa, who is a member of the Health and Strength League of London and the Olympia League of New York, and who is at Quetta now, in an interview with the Associated Press stated that he had started from Nairobi on the 5th December 1929 with a view to travelling round the world on a push-bicycle in all to cover about 62,000 miles in about 7 years time.

The main object of his tour, he added, was to gain first hand knowledge of the people, their habits and customs and the geographical nature of the countries he travelled over and to publish at the end of the tour a book giving to the public a graphic description of the countries he hac visited. He had so far visited Kenya Colony, Tanganica-Territory, Portuguese East Africa, South Africa, Ceylon, India, Burma, Siam, Malaya, Sumatra, Java, Bali, Lombok, Celebes, Borneo, China, Japan, Iraq, Syria, Palestine, Egypt, Europe and Persia, covering in all a distance of about 25,000 miles. From Quetta he would visit Sindh, Punjab, and then proceed to Bombay, from where he intended to go by steamer to America visiting Madgascar and Mauritius enroute.—A. P.

SUIT AGAINST KANARA M. L. C.

District Board Member Alleges High-Handedness

(From Our Correspondent).

KARWAR, Nov. 1.

Mr. G.S. Gangoli, a member for Kanara in the Bombay Legislative Council, who is also the President of the Distt. Local Board, Kanara, is defendant in a suit filed against him in his latter capacity in the Court of the First Class Subordinate Judge of Karwar.

The plaintiff, who is a member of the Distt. Board, seeks a declaration from the Court that the proceedings of the special meeting of the Board recently held to consider the question of the appointment to the post of the Administrative Officer to the School Board of the Distt., were illegal and invalid. He contends that the President's conduct in disallowing as he did, everyone of the motions made by the members, except one which was a proposal to appoint a particular candidate favoured by the President's party, so that the field might be kept clear for him, was quite irregular, unconstitutional and high-handed.

The question of appointment to the post in question arose because the Government refused to sanction, for reasons which they have not declared, the appointment formerly made on the unanimous vote of the Board of the present acting incumbent, Mr. Kasbekar.

If the Japanese could be assured that they are actually free to export to India the quantity which Delhi negotiators are discussing they they would accept.—Reuter.

HINDUS RETALIATED IN SELF-DEFENCE ?

Chudgar Argues Before Tribunal In Ramgarh Riot Case

(From A Correspondent).

JAIPUR, Nov. 3.

The Ramgarh Riot Case came for hearing to-day before a tribunal.

Mr. Kanwarlal Bapna represented the Crown.

Barrister Chudgar for Hindus expressed the hope that Justice Bajpai, who was a party to the judgment in the appeal, would keep an open mind and not hesitate to reverse his opinion if found erroneous. He then criticised the judgment and said that the Chief Court had found that Muslims collected together and armed themselves to deliver attack on Hindus who were peacefully engaged in organising procession and that the Hindus retaliated in self-defence with the exception of Bishambhar.

Evidence against the other accused was very meagre to prove their presence at the spot, where the fight took place. That the evidence as such was mostly false and in fact, both the Sessions Judge and the Chief Court held that prosecution theory was entirely false and almost all the Muslim witnesses were utterly unreliable and some of them absolutely worthless.

Arguments are proceeding.

Hearing is expected to finish on the 4th.

Their Right To Amend Reserve Bank Act

Assembly Members Demand Clear And Unequivocal Declaration From Government

NEW DELHI, Nov. 3.

A movement is afoot among the members of the Central Legislature serving on the Reserve Bank Committee to obtain a clear and unequivocal declaration from the Government regarding the power to amend the Reserve Bank Act.

They are not satisfied with the explanation given by Sir George Schuster or Sir Samuel Hoare's statement before the Parliamentary Select Committee in London. In their opinion the Legislature should have the right to amend the Reserve Bank Act without the approval of Parliament or the Secretary of State or even "the Governor-General at his discretion."

Unless and until such a clear and categorical declaration is forthcoming, the members concerned might even favour a postponement.

OPENING DAY POSTPONED.

It is becoming increasingly clear that the Reserve Bank Select Committee will not be ready with its report till about the 20th of November, as there still are a number of expert witnesses to be examined and the Committee itself has to decide on changes to several clauses of the Bill as a result of their general review and in the light of expert evidence. It is for this reason that after consulting Sir Shanmukham Chetty, the decision has been taken to postpone the opening day of the Assembly session from 13th to 20th November. Members of the Assembly are being informed by telegrams of this change in the date.

To-day Sir Osorn Smith, Sir Purshottamdas Thakurdas and Mr. Lamond gave evidence before the Reserve Bank Committee on behalf of the Imperial Bank with reference to the future of the Bank 'vis a vis' the Reserve Bank.

Questions relating to the business which the Imperial Bank would transact as agent of the Reserve Bank and Indianisation of the Imperial Bank were discussed.

Mr. W. Lamond becomes Deputy Governor of the Imperial Bank on 2nd January, when Sir Kenneth MacDonald retires.

Mr. Ramdas Pantulu has arrived here to give evidence before the Committee on behalf of the Co-operative Banks.—A.P.
